

WE NOMINATE

Elmer Rodweller, a wonderfully human "Princeton Institution" and one of this community's best-known residents, who in his day-to-day volunteer activities stirs thoughts of the poetic conception of the brook that, in comparison with mortal men, "bubbles on forever." Now approaching his 71st birthday, and only recently released from a prolonged siege of hospitalization, this lifelong Princetonian is the oldest active member of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, which a fortnight ago observed the 25th anniversary of its founding with the public dedication of its new, long-needed headquarters on North Harrison Street adjacent to the Shopping Center.

It was in 1939 that a handful of members of Princeton Engine Company No. 1, including Rodweller and others long identified with a fire-fighting organization tracing its origins back to the 1790's, launched the First Aid Unit. Down through the decades, with the Squad consistently ranking among the outstanding groups of its kind in New Jersey, its services have steadily expanded to the degree that it averages some 2.6 calls per day throughout the calendar year and places ever-rising burdens upon men like Rodweller whose only direct compensation is the satisfaction of jobs "well and swiftly done."

For 50 years Rodweller, a product of Princeton's St. Paul's School and the father of two senior members of the Aid Squad, has participated in both the spectacular, and quietly tragic, accidents and events which punctuate, and sometimes dominate, the passing human scene. Even before World War II, in which he won honors overseas in a machine-gun battalion of the 29th (Blue and Gray) Infantry Division, he was helping strengthen No. 1's proud tradition, "We Lead—Others Follow." After 22 months in Europe, he joined the then miniscule Borough Police Department for a 22-year tour in the public service.

While the Rescue Squad today, entirely sustained by individual and corporate donations, maintains an intensive training program for its members and can "roll" two fully equipped ambulances, a rescue truck and two crash boats, Rodweller's experience embraces what might be termed the lean years when the rolling stock consisted of a single second-hand, heave-turned-ambulance. From his Chestnut Street home, diagonally across the street from the No. 1 Fire House, the Aid Squad's original home base, Rodweller for long years on end attained his living habits to answering emergency calls on a round-the-clock basis without regard for such factors as distance and time and personal convenience.

Unlike the majority of his contemporaries, whose fondest memories most often seem to hinge upon halcyon days, Rodweller measures the immediate and remote past by rescues and nip-and-tuck moments. All of Princeton's major blazes of the past several decades, a grisly automobile wreck snuffing out the lives of four teen-agers, rescues and near-rescues from Carnegie Lake and nearby streams, occasional explosions—all of these have been a part of Rodweller's life. And for saving the lives of a mother and daughter at Daytona Beach, Florida, Rodweller was placed in nomination for the Carnegie Foundation's coveted Hero's Medal.

For his understanding of, and devotion to, a profoundly grateful community; for personifying the intrinsically American tradition of volunteer service to one's neighbors; for meriting the half-dozen "nominations" that have come to TOWN TOPICS over the years; he is the Editors' nominee as

NEGROES IN PRINCETON
Two Groups Talk It Over.
"Discrimination in Princeton... well, we sometimes shrug and pretend it isn't here, but if we look and listen..."
With these remarks, Mayor Henry Patterson opened a panel discussion Thursday on the Negro in Princeton, the final "lecture" in the Princeton Adult School's spring series on race relations. A few days earlier, 150 white and Negro residents of Princeton and its surrounding towns, spent Sunday afternoon at a pair of housing workshops sponsored by PAHR, the Princeton Association for Human Rights.

Jobs, education, housing: inextricably joined in an endless chain of cause and effect, these three factors are the primary ones that govern the life of the Negro in Princeton today. A Princeton Negro can probably find a house in a white neighborhood if he has enough money, but he can't save enough money unless he has a good job and he can't get a good job unless he has an education, and it takes a long, long time to get all three.

Education. Panel member George Goldsmith, education chairman for PAHR, told the Adult School audience that Princeton's teachers and guidance counselors had an "arbitrary low expectation level" for Negro children and did not encourage them to perform to the limit of their capacities. "We need to re-educate the town at large and the staffs of our schools in this regard," Mr. Goldsmith said. "We must also provide Negro children with a chance for self-realization." He referred to the Higher Horizons program now in operation at Witherspoon School and suggested that it be expanded to include all Negro children, Borough and Township.

Princeton High School is "inadequate" vocationally, Mr. Goldsmith charged, suggesting that the emphasis on high marks discouraged boys and girls not academically inclined and led to drop-outs.

He asked specifically for the establishment of a technical high school in addition to the present one, remedial education in the lower grades and support for an on-job training program scheduled to start this fall.

JOBS THROUGH PAHR: Mrs. Rowan Boone and Irving Newlin of the employment committee, Princeton Association for Human Rights, prepare to discuss a job opening with a Negro applicant. Jobs, housing, education and civil rights for Princeton's Negroes are the subject of "This Is Princeton." (Ulli Steltzer Photo)

Princeton High, told TOWN TOPICS that the high school has two possibilities for on-job training. Under one, the University would take six seniors into its manual labor departments to learn such things as glass blowing, for example. Students would attend school in the mornings and work in the afternoons. This program has not yet been fully approved.

Under the second, Princeton businessmen would take on students for half of every day, not merely as employees but as trainees who might work into full-time jobs after graduation. A similar program has been followed for many years in the high school's commercial department.

The high school expects to inaugurate this program in a small way this fall and to send it ahead full steam in 1965, Mr. Michael said.

The "Plan." Mr. Goldsmith told the Adult School audience that the "Princeton Plan" had made "chinks in the ghetto walls" for Borough children and had raised their horizons even though it had not changed the racial composition of Princeton's neighborhoods.

He expressed the wish that a similar program could be blocked out for the Township, where the neighborhood school policy tends to keep most Negro children in the same school. (All Township children attend the same junior high, however.)

Jobs. When Mrs. Rowan Boone reported on the work of PAHR's employment committee, she underscored the need for education.

"PAHR wrote to 19 business firms in this area asking for cooperation in hiring Negroes," Mrs. Boone began. "Of these, 15 replied affirmatively and many called PAHR and offered specific jobs — chemical engineers, scientific personnel, advertising layout experts. So many of the job offered are unfilled because we can't find skilled Negroes to fill them."

"The easiest jobs to fill," Mrs. Boone said, "are the secretarial ones. If a Negro has passable skills and a high-school education, we can find

Princeton neighborhoods once occupied exclusively by whites. "It could have been more," Mr. Newton said, "if Negroes had been 'prepared,' but they need education to get the job to buy the house."

Mr. Newton is concerned about the price of housing in Princeton and he suspects that a few people in positions of power in Princeton have decided, perhaps unconsciously, that Princeton should be a one-class, upper-class community. "If a tract of land could be acquired, probably in the Township, and its developers given the type of zoning needed, housing units could be developed for rental and sale in the price range which would he possible for a number of Negroes and other groups with moderate and lower incomes," Mr. Newton said.

Mayor Patterson told the Adult School panel that he would like to see Witherspoon School and the old Bannan warehouse on Maclean Street razed to make room for 12-unit-per-acre garden apartments, with the possible result of breaking the "ghetto" by allowing white families to move into it.

The word "ghetto" incidentally, is offensive to many Negroes who live in the area as one pointed out to the Adult School audience on Thursday night.

The Agent? What about the real estate agent? His role in Princeton was discussed by both the Sunday workshops and the Adult School. "Under pressure of state law and the threat of losing their licenses, local brokers and realtors are beginning to show houses and apartments in a relatively normal way to Negroes," Mr. Newton said.

"We need to work more with realtors," he continued. "When realtors take it on as their own responsibility to prevent discrimination, then we'll be rid of a big roadblock."

Three Princeton real estate agents came to the Sunday workshop to listen and comment. Mrs. Lester Chandler of PAHR said that PAHR members had met with Ridgely Cook, head of the Princeton realtors group, and that "lines of communication" had been opened.

Bryce Thompson IV, real estate agent, suggested on Sunday that PAHR had not talked enough with agents. He said that agents had never been asked to speak on panels or answer questions.

"It's not our fault if there aren't any houses under $24,000," Mr. Thompson commented, and later when the chairman of the workshop quoted the statement of several realtors opposing a fair housing law, Mr. Thompson said he felt that the law violated a home owner's constitutional rights.

"A home-owner should have the right to be a bigot if he wants to," Mr. Thompson said.

Rights Commission? The question of rights, in the broad sense, was part of the dialogue in both these meetings and in both, the question of a civil or human rights commission for Princeton was raised.

When a member of the audience at the Adult School lecture suggested that a commission would give Negroes moral support, Mayor Patterson said, "I don't feel that such a commission is necessary because the groups now in existence are doing so well."

He also explained that under state law, a human rights commission only has the power to enforce state statutes, not to initiate, after the manner of the housing or employment groups.

At the Sunday workshops, two representatives from the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights and a deputy attorney general urged the establishment of a civil rights commission in Princeton, chiefly because the state divisions has so much area to cover that it cannot possibly know each local situation.

The Summing Up? James Ward, on the Adult School panel, spoke for one segment of the Negro community (many other Negroes have quite a different point of view) as it is in Princeton in April, 1964, when he said, "Barriers are not insurmountable, and a ghetto can be a negative stimulus to get out and do better. An individual should think of himself, not as a Negro, but as an individual, and if he does, then housing and jobs and so on are not insurmountable. We must accept individual challenges and work out our own individual solution to group problems. If progress seems slow at times, remember that at least some progress is being made."

PLAY BALL!

In '65, Baseball, softball and soccer, handball, basketball and tennis — can you wait until next spring?

Grading, and planting will begin this year — probably in May — on 27 acres of Community Gardens land set aside for Princeton's recreation, but it will be a full year before the land settles enough to be used.

Township Committee passed, on Monday night, the $302,400 ordinance providing for phase one of Community Gardens planning, following a public hearing whose strongest moment came when William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, said, "This is fine, but we want more!"

Mayor William Wilson assured Mr. Cherry that this was only the first step, and that many more lay ahead.

The "Where?" of Tennis. Asked for an opinion about the distribution of tennis courts (children in one area, experts in another?), John Conroy, Princeton University tennis coach, told Committee he thought all courts ought to be together, for easier supervision and cheaper maintenance. It was Mr. Conroy who said that the graded area would have to settle for about a year before acceptable tennis courts could be laid down.

Two parking lots will be constructed on Witherspoon Street, one between Township Hall and Community Park school, and one between the extensions of John and Race Streets. Ridgley Cook, who attends Committee meetings as the representative of Princeton's real estate agents, suggested that the Race-John section was too congested already and that a parking lot would only make things worse.

"We need a parking lot there for that very reason," replied Committeeman Carl C. Schafer. "It will provide parking for people who live near Race and John and have no driveways in which to park their cars."

Replying to a question from Mr. Conroy, Committeeman John O. Green said that the two sections of Community Gardens, one on either side of Route 206, would probably be connected by a footbridge across the highway.

Mayor Wilson saluted Mr. Green for his work in the re-

MODELLING FOR SCHOLARSHIPS at the annual Borough Teachers' Association fashion show next Wednesday will be, from left, Miss Vicki Webb, Miss Thomasena Caldwell and Miss Carol Hyde. The collection, titled "Fashions En Voyage," will come from Belknap, and will be presented at 8 in the Princeton High School auditorium. Earnings from the show will go to the Irving W. creation — open space department, and added, "Community Gardens will be a great asset to this community. Like Central Park, which is a great asset to New York, it will certainly generate problems for us, but it's a wonderful thing to have."

And Still More Land. Adjoining Community Gardens on the north is a 55-acre tract known as the Harrop property, which Borough and Township hope to acquire under the state's Green Acres program to make an even larger recreation area.

The Township will apply to Green Acres for $82,150—half of the $164,300 price of the Harrop land — and will also apply for Federal funds to pay 20% of the total amount, leaving only 30% to be paid for jointly by Borough and Township.

Although the land will be jointly owned by Borough and Township, it is the Township that is making the application because a single request involves less delay and red tape than a joint one. Mayor Wilson suggested this procedure to Borough Mayor Henry Patterson, who accepted promptly.

In addition, the Township is acting as banker for the development of Community Gardens, with the Borough contributing to the debt service.

Committee also:

● Heard Committeemen Russell Mount and Walter Foster report their opinion that the Township does not need another package store liquor license, and their recommendation that the liquor ordinance remain as it.

● Learned from Mayor Wilson that the Township, the law committee of Princeton University's Board of Trustees and members of the University staff had had a "constructive" meeting on the kind of payment in lieu of taxes which the Township thinks the University ought to make on its faculty apartments. Nothing definite so far.

● Asked its attorney, Gordon Griffin, for a memo on what the Township can legally do to prod the Princeton Shopping Center into a more cooperative attitude on traffic safety.

● Agreed to pay $18.90 to John Baldino, 22 Carnahan Place, for the seven rabbits he lost to an unidentified predatory German shepherd.

"YES" TO PHS CHOIR

European Tour Approved. The Borough Board of Education has given approval to the Princeton High School choir for its European concert tour this summer. The choir will leave on June 15 to perform at international music festivals and conferences in Italy, Hungary and England.

The decision of the board to approve the choir's trip was announced last Thursday by Board President Graham Rohrer at a meeting of choir members' parents at the Nassau Street School. At the time of Mr. Rohrer's announcement, approximately $35,000 of the necessary $40,000 had been pledged or received, and he expressed the confidence of the board that the total amount would be raised.

About $20,000 has been pledged by parents of choir members, and more than $10,000 has been received so far as contributions from other individuals. Choir members have earned nearly $1,000 through work programs.

To aid in raising the $5,000 still needed, three Princeton service organizations, Rotary, the Lions and Kiwanis, will sponsor a concert by the choir at McCarter Theatre on May 16. (See page 32, "Music In Princeton.")

All 55 members of the present choir are to go on the tour, accompanied by an adult group including chaperones, accompanists and Choir Director Thomas Hilbish. The group will leave by jet from New York for Rome on June 15 and will return from England on July 17.

As a Republican choice for President, he polled 294 in the County, drawing 53 of these votes from Princeton Township and 33 from the Borough. Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater was second all along the line with these totals 148 in the County, 40 in Princeton Township, 16 in the Borough. Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton and former Vice-President Richard Nixon did better with scattered votes than New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

Complimentary totals for Republican Council candidates were 272 apiece for Alan W. Carrick and Frederick English. Their Democratic opponents in November, Nicholas Bartolino and Enoch Durbin, polled respective totals of 124 and 116. In Princeton Township, Mayor William Wilson received 385 to 168 for Democrat William Sloane.

One-sided races for Congress at the primary level were easily captured by the organization candidates. Rep. Frank Thomas and his Republican opponent in the fall, Ephraim Tomlinson. Their margins ran upwards of 8 to 1.

TWO STUDENTS INJURED

In Campus Accident, Two Princeton undergraduates were seriously injured early Wednesday morning when the car one of them was driving crashed into a tree on College Road about 50 yards west of Washington Road. Both are on the critical list at Princeton Hospital.

Two Princeton residents, in the back seat, received only minor injuries. Borough and Township police report that the accident occurred when the 1964 sedan rounded the curve from Washington into College Road at high speed, bounced off the fence on the right and careened into a tree on the opposite side 50 yards farther on.

It had not been determined several hours after the accident whether Charles Berling, 41 Little Hall, or Peter Freeman, 221 Lockhart, was driving. Mr. Berling, a member of the Princeton basketball team, sustained fractures of the right

In the back seat were Joseph Nutt, 23, of 25 Murray Place, listed by police as the owner of the car, and Fred Guercini, 28, 6 Spruce Lane. They were treated at the Hospital for abrasions and lacerations and released.

Several Other Injuries Two persons were injured slightly Monday afternoon at 5 when their cars collided at Elm and Stockton.

Mrs. Stuart B. Dreier, 49, 472 Stockton Street, and William Clark, 13, of Trenton, were treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions and lacerations and released. Young Clark was a passenger in a car driven by Anthony L. Babcock, Franklin Park.

As reconstructed by the police, Mr. Babcock was stopped at the foot of Elm waiting to turn onto Stockton. When he saw a blinking directional signal on the Dreier car, indicating it was going to turn, he pulled out into the Stockton traffic flow.

But Mrs. Dreier did not

UP ANCHOR
For "Showboat". It's only one more week, and then the good showboat "Cotton Blossom" will dock at McCarter Theatre, loaded to the gunwales with those 115 actors and singers, and absolutely awash with bittersweet Jerome Kern melodies.

The "Showboat" production is the annual endeavor of P. J. & B. productions, steered by Milton Lyon for the fourth time in a row of years.

Opening night will be next Thursday, April 30 at 7:30. Subsequent performances will be on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 and Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

"Showboat" opened on Broadway in 1926, with Charles Winninger as Cap'n Andy, Edna Mae Oliver as Parthy, Helen Morgan as Julie and someone called "Aunt Jemima" as Queenie.

For the P. J. & B. record, Stuart Duncan will be Cap'n Andy, Betty Fussell is down for Parthy, Joan Bishop has been cast as Julie and Eliza-beth Pergerson as Queenie.

Jerome Kern's score for "Showboat" has some of his

JOAN AND BAUDRICOURT: When Le Treteau de Paris comes to McCarter Tuesday with Jean Anouilh's "L'Alouette," Luce Vincent (left) will portray Joan of Arc and Claude Richard will be Baudricourt. M. Richard created the roles of Baudricourt in the Anouilh play.

most memorable and romantic tunes, including, besides the classic "Ol' Man River," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," "Only Make Believe," "You Are Love" and "Till Good Luck Comes My Way."

New "popular prices" this year will start at $1.50, which is about one cent for every costume in the show, according to the accountant who does the publicity for McCarter Theatre. Tickets, needless to say, are on sale.

YOUR FRENCH READY?
Here's Anouilh. A matinee performance of Jean Anouilh's "L'Alouette," ("The Lark"), a play about Joan d'Arc, will be given in McCarter Theatre next Tuesday by members of the Treteau de Paris Company, making their annual spring visit to McCarter.

Matinee curtain will be 2:30. For the first time, the Paris actors are unable to schedule an evening performance in Princeton, not because of their own reluctance, but because the McCarter stage will be occupied with dress rehearsals for "Showboat."

The Princeton appearance will mark the conclusion of coast-to-coast tour which has taken the Treteau company to 65 college and university campuses. The group was formed in 1962 by Jean de Rigault to introduce leading French actors, directors and designers to American audiences.

For this production, supervised by M. Anouilh, Luce Vincent will play Joan of Arc. Henri Poirier will be Cauchon, Roger Montsoret will be the Dauphin, Claude Richard has been assigned the role of Baudricourt and Richard Clark, a British actor, will be the Earl of Warwick.

BAYANIHAN TO DANCE
Philippine Company. The Bayanihan dancers of the Philippines will pause in the course of their coast-to-coast tour to bow before Princeton dance-lovers in McCarter on Wednesday, May 12, at 8:30.

The company is one of the few remaining dance companies in the world which has not yet come to McCarter, accord-

"SILENTS ARE GOLDEN"

Film Festival Bonus. Douglas Fairbanks and Rudolph Valentino will buckle on the swash in two silent film classics due in McCarter Theatre on Monday, May 4 at 8 p.m.

"The Three Musketeers," with Fairbanks in one of his greatest roles as D'Artagnan, and "The Son of the Sheik," starring Valentino in his last feature role, will be on the McCarter program. It's a special double - feature - bonus marking the end of the present classic film series.

"BILLY BUDD" HERE

Intime to Produce Play. Herman Melville's novel, "Billy Budd," as adapted for the stage, will be presented by members of the University's Theatre Intime this Thursday, Friday and Saturday; next Friday and Saturday and the following Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, all at 8:30 p.m.

First published under the title "Uniform of Flesh," this adaptation of the Melville work was made by Louis O. Cox and Robert H. Chapman when they were Princeton University undergraduates in the early '40's. It was revised and republished as "Billy Budd" in 1949 and presented on Broadway in 1951.

A cast of 25 undergraduates under the direction of Dan O. Deitch, '65, will be led by Donald L. Fitzhugh Jr. as Billy Budd. Jerry E. Richardson will be John Claggart and Ralph Denton will portray Captain Vere.

YOUNG DANCERS READY

Regional Ballet in Debut. Young members of the Princeton Regional Ballet Company will present their first public program on Saturday, May 23, in McCarter, exhibiting their talents in a familiar ballet and two new ones.

Act II of Tchaikowsky's "Swan Lake," as restaged by Margot and Roland Guerard; a new ballet called "Rope Games," by Margaret Lee Sinclair to music by Ibert; and "Chanson Innocente," a new ballet by Audree Esley to new music by Nathaniel Burt, will be on the program. In addition, guest artists will perform a Grand Pas de Deux Classique.

The Princeton Regional Ballet company consists of young dancers chosen by audition from communities throughout central New Jersey. Its purpose is to give serious young dancers the chance to acquire a repertoire and to gain actual stage experience. The group is sponsored by the Princeton Ballet Society and dance studios in this part of the state. Tickets are available from Mrs. Lawrence Benson, Province Line Road, Skillman.

"ANNIE" COMING

At Lawrenceville. The Periwig Club of the Lawrenceville School will present the "Annie Get Your Gun" this Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. in the school's Kirby Arts Center. June Tipton and Dick Gould will star in the musical, which includes 50 singers and dancers.

Tickets at $1 for reserved seats may be purchased at the Kirby box office from 7 to 8 each evening through Friday.

Chain of Roses

Not roses, necessarily — peonies, in a way? But a chain, that's certain.

We're fooling at the moment, a garland of full-blown fabric flowers at The Betty Wright Shop. They are made for as many purposes as you can name, and we begin with a few suggested by Mrs. Glover, who owns the shop.

Take a garland of blue peony-roses, for example, and wind it about your chinon to make a "hat," or simply a charming addition to your coiffure. Twine them around the crown of a big-brimmed straw. Wear them as a lei around a white linen sheath. See what we mean?

We like them best in shades of blue, but you can match them to your mood.

IT'S NEW

To Us

GRADUATION WHITE

Sewing Cum Laude. Well, they used to wear white at graduations, anyway, and we suspect that many still do. In any case, the Fabric Center on Witherspoon Street is snowed under with white fabrics of such dimension and variety that even if you don't have to make a graduation dress, you'll buy anyway.

Piques, in waffle, birdseye or bullseye textures, eyelet embroidered cotton, cotton with dacon, seersucker, dotted Swiss, organdy, dimity—all of it as white as the diploma itself.

On the colorful side, the Fabric Center has a collection of duck sailcloth bolts, 98 cents a yard drip dry, in a splendidly deep royal blue, lemon yellow, orange, turquoise, half a dozen shades of toast and tan, all ready for the slacks, shorts and wrap-skirts you're going to make for warm weather. At such a price!

And while you're outdoors—look over the terry prints, and decide which you'll choose for a beach poncho. We like the little squared-off calico tigers on white, and the magnified gingham in bursting red-red, or royal navy blue.

For travel, the Fabric Center on Witherspoon suggests its "shag," a mixture of rayon, silk and flax which is washable and crush-resistant, even if you're caught in the biggest crowd. . . . Light solids like dusty pink, dusty green and blue, and prints like the blue and olive zinfias on beige, constitute the collection. The nubbed fabric, nice and full-bodied, is 45 inches wide, $1.49.

Equally malleable for travel is the arnel jersey, $1.79 for 45 inches, done in a variety of spring prints that look as though a child had amugged through a box of pastels. Black or white solids, too.

YELLOW CART, RED GERANIUMS: For many springs, the yellow Gene Seal flower cart has brightened the Nassau Street scene. Here it is, with its owner, Virginia Beckmao, and a mass of spring blooms.

Center recommends its collection of six-match broadcloth and gingham, with solids and checks in yellow (a sunny, light yellow), emerald green, brown, pink, lavender. The same mix-match can be worked out with solids and stripes in denims, and if it's solids alone you want, there are 30 colors on the broadcloth shelf.

For the Madras fans, there's the imported haemophilic kind at $1.39. We liked the explosion of gold, orange and yellow clusters in a pique print, wonderful for a summer shift, and the small, unobtrusive bronze and orange checks in a holt of dacon and cotton. The d. and c. mix is $1.29 for 45-inch width, you'll be happy to hear.

Pima cottons feature a herd of orange, purple and pink camels stomping through a white desert with another herd of black outline camels, obviously from another tribe. Random polka dots in blues, with a maverick brown one here and there, spot another dacon and cotton print.

Hopeasking is pick, of all things, and blue as well. But it also comes in a sturdy pumpkin and about half a dozen other colors, so its integrity is not sacrificed to femininity. We haven't got room, but did you know the shop makes slipcovers?

SALMON, PLEASE

Are You Pink? Princeton gardeners are fastidious and particular, with a sense for color and a distate for compromise. Gene Seal Flowers presents, therefore, a range of color in its geranium and pansy collection which passes imagination and belief.

In fact, the growers who supply Gene Seal can't get over this Princeton gardener situation, and every year they say, in bafflement, to the Gene Seal buyer, "But why all those COLORS? Why not just red and white?" "Princeton," she says loftily, "is Princeton."

And so, you may buy salmon geraniums shocking and pink geraniums, fire engine red geraniums and white geraniums, cranberry geraniums and appleblossom pink geraniums.

If you want blue, you buy Lake Geneva pansies. Princeton gardeners are also fussy about pansies, and prefer solids like the Lake Geneva blue, Buttercup yellow or Alp white. Mixtures—not so much.

In case you're wondering, this is perennial time for Gene Seal. Alyssum, anchusa, candytuft . . . did you know that Princeton also likes blue and white gardens.

There's a wonderful delphinium hybrid with giant spires—beautiful thing, in deep blue, light blue, pink or white. You're sure to want it in this summer's garden.

Try the pink or white foxglove, or the Oriental poppies in orange, pink or red for blazing color on a blazing summer day. Seaplunks, Canterbury bells, Shasta daisies—all the names of an old-fashioned garden in new and sturdy plants.

Over the fence in the vegetable patch, Gene Seal has cabbage and lettuce right now and will have tomatoes and peppers as the season advances. Annuals in flats will be along, too.

tures of James Bond, Agent 007 of the British Secret Service, fluctuate giddily between danger and dalliance and back again — hut it's all an expert satire on whodunits.

The story is as complicated and improbable as Bond's dual life as public servant and private gynephile. Yet, amid the unending excitement, there are enough laughs to make From Russia something of a minor classic as a caricature.

Sean Connery takes on the role of the tireless operative with an appropriately lusty and lustful enthusiasm and well sculptured Daniela Bianchi plays a convincingly seductive Russian undercover (but on a mattress) agent. If you like Ian Fleming, this is pure hottled-in-Bond.

THE GARDEN AND PRINCE

Tom Jones (now showing) is the magnificent, bawdy, lusty, boisterous, beautiful, call-it-what-you-will movie of Henry Fielding's 18th Century Classic, "The History of Tom Jones, a Foundling." The film is a far-out, hilariously cockeyed, delightfully outrageous picture of life as it was then. It's just won four Oscars — including the most coveted, "best picture."

Fielding's original is, and will continue to be, rated as the greatest comic novel in the language. Now Tony Richardson's movie adaptation has made it into a film which is, and also will continue to be, an absolutely magnificent cinema entertainment.

It's a triumph. Run, don't walk, to the nearest entrance — and have a good time. You can't miss.

THE NEW STRAND

Shakespeare Fete to End. As the April Shakespeare Festival at The New Strand in Lambertville draws to a close, five short films relating to the playwright's life and works will be shown on Thursday, the date generally accepted as Shakespeare's birthday. Lawrence Olivier's "Richard III" will be shown for the last time on Friday.

Actors on TV

Three members of the McCarter Theatre repertory company will be on Channel 13's "Profile: New Jersey" next Saturday, May 2, at 6:30 p.m. in a discussion of Shakespeare, McCarter Theatre and repertory.

Angela D'Ambrosia, Ruby Holbrook and Gerald Peters will be the stars. Arthur W. Lithgow, executive director of McCarter, and Alan S. Downer, chairman of the department of English at Princeton will appear in feature roles.

The program is a repeat of one shown this Tuesday and Wednesday on Channel 13.

On Saturday, at 11 a.m., the Breisch Family Puppets return with a new show, and at 8:30 p.m. the Princeton Community Players will present three one-act plays, "Augustus Does His Bit" by Shaw, "The Boor," by Chekhov, and "27 Wagonloads of Cotton," by Tennessee Williams.

On Sunday and Monday, The New Strand will show "The Titan," a color film on the life of Michelangelo, and on the same program will be "Volpone," by Ben Jonson, with Louis Jourvet and Harry Bauer.

The Shakespeare Festival will conclude on Tuesday and Wednesday with Olivier's production of "Hamlet."

Miniature rosebushes will bloom until frost, with red or salmon blooms, if you have lots of sun $3. Azaleas in shocking pink or a demure pink will bloom—when azaleas bloom. Here again is our friend the Princeton gardener. The Gene Seal customer eschews the usual Hino azalea red.

Did you know clay flowerpots are scarce? Gene Seal has a customer who drives down from Maine twice a year in a stationwagon to load up. Something to do with the economics of plant wholesaling (fewer greenhouses, hence fewer pots) and the invention of plastic.

A HIT WITH A MISS

New Line for B. Wright, "Country Miss" and her younger "Country Junior" are modestly priced classic dresses, easy and feminine, the kind of dress you just keep buying and buying because it's so comfortable and so eternally becoming. Prices start at $12.98.

At The Betty Wright Shop, we found the Junior line starting with tiny butterflies, fluttering wide apart over a pale, pale yellow ground. The dress, like almost all the "Country" cousins, is pan collar, roll-up, full skirt. Quite different in mood is a deep beige with bigger rust and bronze butterflies, cut in the same style.

Candy stripes, in pink or blue, denim blue solid, a strawberry and cream solid and a Liberty-style print make up the rest of the line. On the regular-size rack, there's a drip dry all-dacron gingham.

A pleasant multistriped seersucker, with the stripes lined up this way and that on pocket and skirt, just for variety. Makes an agreeable summer shift, just to contrast with that white shift, the one with the big roses, and the pink or blue gingham with the smocking all across the yoke (wonderful maternity dress, by the way).

Pierced ears are in style at the B. Wright Shop. One pair, entrancing really, is a one-quarter inch jade tear-drop, no bigger than a real tear. A pearl drop against the lobe would be becoming, too. If your ears are newly pierced, by the way, you should wear only 14-18 karat gold hooks to avoid infection. Every trade has its tricks.

With June ahead, look at the diploma and mortarboard charms, and the always popular Princeton High jewelry for boys or girls. (Or the enameled tiger pin, the tiger done up in modern style)

By the way, Betty Wright has elephants and donkeys for this election year. The donkeys have been sold, but not the elephants. Who cares about New Hampshire for trends? Try 144 Nassau.

make the indicated turn. In the ensuing collision, both cars were extensively damaged. Police issued no summonses.

In the Township, two cars left the road in separate accidents.

Albert R. Ronise, 29, 21 Palmer Square, skidded on the wet Great Road at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. He told police as he entered a sharp curve, he applied his brakes sharply, forcing him off the road and into a ditch. His skidding car damaged the lawn in front of the home of John P. Poe, Great Road, and knocked down a Township traffic sign. He was uninjured.

Late Thursday afternoon, Eugene M. Armstrong, 17, 221 Dudds Lane, ran into a deep ditch while driving on Herrontown Road near Snowden Lane. His car rolled over and he received contusions and abrasions of the scalp.

Mr. Armstrong was ticketed for careless driving. His VW sedan was a total loss.

Broken Bones. Still in Princeton Hospital recovering from a fractured pelvis and leg is Charles Pizarro, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Pizarro, Mapleton Road, Kingston. Charles was struck by a car last Tuesday while delivering newspapers on his bicycle. The accident happened at 5 p.m. on Heathcote Road, Kingston.

On the same day, an hour later, Mrs. Walter Stue, 95 Cedar Lane, fractured two bones in her right arm when her car was involved in a two-car accident at the Princeton Shopping Center exit at Harrison and Valley Road. A passenger in her car, Mrs. Diana Hall, 260 Snowden Lane, received contusions of the head and right leg.

The second driver, Alberta A. Warman, 47, of Trenton, was charged with failing to yield at an intersection. Both cars were badly damaged.

"FRIENDS" DISSOLVED

Balance to Hospital. The Friends of Princeton Hospital have disbanded and their treasury balance of $121.70 has been turned over to the Hospital's Building Fund. Thomas P. Cook stated the organization was founded "to enlarge the membership of the corporation so as to broaden the basis of its support . . . and to bring about changes in the by-laws with respect to the nomination and election of trustees.

"We feel these objectives have been achieved and to demonstrate our feeling that the entire community should support the hospital, we have dissolved the group and turned

George W. Conover, president of the Hospital's board of trustees, expressed the appreciation of the board to the group and commented, "More important than the money is the harmony of once again having all the segments of our community solidly behind us in our efforts to provide the best in hospital facilities and medical care."

The Building Fund has raised $1,394,575 in its three-year campaign, and progress will be reported this Wednesday at 8 in the new Engineering Quadrangle.

BIRTHS

Fourteen Born. Eight girls and six boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McElroy, 196-B West Avenue, Trenton, April 13; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Waite, 54 Herrontown Circle, April 14; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Felton, Bidgeview Road, and Dr. and Mrs. William F. Haynes, River Road, Belle Mead, both on April 15; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Moretz, 32 Edgemere Avenue, Plainsboro, April 17; Mr. and Mrs. Mark De Voto, 223-D Halsey Street, April 18; Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey MacDonald, 25 Bank Street and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas C. Walker Sr., 7 Downing Road, Hamilton Square, both on April 19.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. John E. Golias, 67 New Road, Kendall Park, April 13;

ANYBODY WANT A RIDE? These are four happy committeemen planning a dance, if you can believe it. Susan Honore, Mrs. Barbara Lorber, Peter Sly (it's his motorbike) and Steve Dr. Gidd (the reading is the usual left to right) are on the committee for the Valley Road School Alumni Dance to be held this Sunday in the Valley Road gym for all Princeton High School juniors and seniors who were graduated from Valley Road. Proceeds from the dance will go toward a scholarship for some Valley Road graduate, now a high school senior, who plans a teaching career. Mrs. Lorber, a Valley Road teacher, is sponsor of the dance. FASHION SHOW SET

Will Aid Scholarship Fund. The Princeton Borough Teachers' Association will hold its fifth annual fashion show Wednesday evening at 8 in the Princeton High School auditorium. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Irving W. Merriam Scholarship Trust Fund.

For the second year, television stars Paul and Mary Ritts will conduct the show, with Paul serving as narrator. Mary will preside at the organ, as Paul Ritts and his "Eight Notes" will provide the music.

Fashions from Bellows will be shown against a background of four original settings. Scenes include those of Hawaii, Spain and Rome. Students and teachers from Princeton area schools will serve as models.

STUDENTS FINED $15

For Opening Hydrants. Three Princeton University students were each fined $15 Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr., after they all had pleaded guilty to opening a number of fire hydrants last week in the area surrounding the campus.

They are Lawrence J. Stupski, 18, Laughlin Hall; Jay F. Higgins, 18, Witherspoon Hall; and Jerry L. Ingram, 19, Pyne Hall. The three also face disciplinary action by University authorities.

In other criminal cases, Eugene Bullock, 28, 17 Lytle Street, was fined $35 for assaulting his wife, Faye, the complainant. In addition, he received a 60-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse and was placed on Spring Clean-up Week in Princeton Borough and Township will be held next week. Monday through Friday.

Residents are urged to clean up attics and cellars, trim shrubbery and trees, and clean all debris from alleys and yards.

All material should be placed in containers at the curb, except brush or bushes, which should be tied in bundles. The material should be of a weight and size that one man can lift.

The Sanitary Landfill, off River Road, will be open six Sundays from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., beginning this Sunday, as part of the clean-up program.

Further information may be obtained at 924-3495 (Borough residents) and at 921-7077 (Township residents.)

a year's probation. He pleaded guilty.

Gavin B. Boyd, 21, 30 Mercer Street, was fined $35 after he denied a charge of possession of stolen property. Boyd was accused by Patrolman Russell Shangle of stealing clothing from a University dormitory. For trying to go to sleep in a hallway closet at 48 University Place, Joseph E. Wiclaw, 38, Trenton, was sentenced to one day in the Borough Jail. He was charged with loitering.

In traffic court, Andrew Teague Jr., 31, 97 Leigh Avenue, and two other Princeton motorists were fined for careless driving. Mr. Teague was fined $15 and had his license suspended 30 days when he fell asleep while driving on Chambers Street last week. He

By JOHN F. BERNARD

The rash of new car names on the market brings to mind that something like 2,500 makes have come and gone since the turn of the century.

Do you recall, for example, the Mercer, Overland, Pierce Arrow, Brewster and Stutz? Then there was the White, Saxon, Grant and Scripps-Bouth. Perhaps even more dimly recalled are other makes which have passed into limbo: Wolverine, Victor, Pennsy, Fronlenac, Hatfield, Ghent, Piedmont and Erie.

Like these old vintage cars... old policies, coverages and processes of insurance are completely passe. A policy can become outmoded within a year. Changing policies is often to your advantage... from every standpoint. The big question is, do you have enough, of the right type, at the right time? Only a qualified agent can tell you. Call 921-6880 for an agent from STURIAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD, 15 Chambers St., to give you the facts... you'll gain in every way. "Always Remember Fair Claim Settlement Is Our Most Important Product"

Two weeks ago, I listed seven words in the English language, each of which contains all the vowels. A few days later, I received this letter.

"Dear Mr. Bernard

"You have unquestionably omitted from your advertisement in TOWN TOPICS one other word containing all the vowels."

It was signed by George F. McBride, who lives on Aqueduct Road, is 9 years old and goes to Plainsboro Township School. Can you tell what word George has added to the list?

was fined an additional $15 as an unlicensed driver.

Also fined for careless driving were John R. Frederiksen, 23, 40 Brookstone Drive, $25, and Miss Joyce M. Barber, 46, 134 Nassau Street, $15. Miss Barber pleaded not guilty.

Fines of $25 and $16 were levied against Rathbun F. Mather, 19, 46 Maple Street, and Miss Mary VanMarter, 21, Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, Blawenburg, for speeding.

In Township court held April 15, Magistrate James S. Hill fined Robert Miller of Kingston $30 for careless driving. Joseph Magnanti, 27, Pine Street, was fined $35 for shoplifting at Bamberger's Department Store, Princeton Shopping Center.

STUDENT WINS CONTEST
Sponsored by WHWH, Jay Kerr of Jamesburg, a freshman at Princeton University, won the Academy Award contest held by WHWH this month. He tied with three others in selecting winners in seven out of eight categories, and gained first place in the elimination contest.

Robert Nahas of Princeton was second, with C. R. Pullen of Hightstown and Asa S. Bushnell of Princeton runners-up. Robert Alexander, WHWH production manager, presented Mr. Kerr with a certificate for his prize on Tuesday at the Princeton Playhouse. First prize was an AM/FM radio-phonograph.

BUY A BEGONIA

At Stony Brook Sale. The fifth annual May Plant Sale of the Stony Brook Garden Club will be held from 10 to 5, Tuesday, May 12, at the home of Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, 15 Hodge Road. Rain date is May 13.

Mrs. Rene Leon and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding are co-chairmen of the sale, which will feature rooted tuberous begonias. There will also be an unusual collection of scented herbs, special ivies, geraniums, delphiniums, Dutch bulbs as well as other annuals and perennials.

Assisting the chairmen are Mrs. G. Alfred Cluett Jr. and Mrs. John H. Wallace Jr., co-treasurers; Mrs. John F. Donoho and Mrs. Marshal Dana, staffing; Mrs. Donald W. Griffin and Mrs. Robert F. Wright, display garden; Mrs. Brooks Emery and Mrs. Daniel Pierce, publicity. Advance orders may be placed with Mrs. Leon, 924-1646, until May 1.

Obituaries

Edward M. Crane, president of D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc. of Alexander Street, died April 13 in Del Ray Beach, Fla. His home was in Middletown Township, Monmouth County.

Mr. Crane, a member of the Princeton University Class of 1920, joined the book publishing firm after his graduation. He served as secretary for three years before becoming president in 1927. At his instigation, the firm moved its central offices from New York to Princeton in 1956.

Mr. Crane served as a lieutenant in the 80th Division in France during World War I. He was a member of the Alien Enemy Hearing Board in New Jersey during World War II.

He was a trustee of the Seabury Press, New York, publisher of Episcopal prayer books and hymnals. In 1946 he served as chairman of the United States International Book Association, which fosters the international distribution of American books, and in 1948 he went to Germany as adviser on book publishing to the Office of Military Government.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Margaret M. A. Crane, a son, Edward M. Crane Jr., of Rumson; a daughter, Mrs. John H. Miller 2nd of Rumson; a brother, Jasper Crane of Wilmington, Del., retired duPont vice-president; two sisters, Mrs. Cordelia de Schweinitz of Dorset, Vt., and Mrs. Amy Kirkpatrick of Wilmington, and five grandchildren.

The service was held in St. George's-by-the-River Episcopal Church, Rumson.

Mrs. Edna R. Webster, 69, of Scott Road, Princeton Junction, died April 20 after she suffered a heart attack while driving her car. She was the widow of Norman Webster.

Born in Ferrandville, Pa., Mrs. Webster was a member of the WSCS of Princeton Methodist Church.

Surviving are three sons, Kenneth R. of Lawrenceville, Norman Jr. of Erie, Pa., and Wayne W. of Hazardsville.

Conn.; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Weeks of Princeton Junction and Mrs. Henry Williams of Alexandria, Va., and two brothers, Ira E. Hevner of North Bend, Pa., and Elmer Hevner of Mountville, N.Y.

The service and interment will be held in Haddonfield, Pa. Arrangements are under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

William Mannix Sr., 65, of 57 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, died April 20 in the University of Pennsylvania Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Beatrice G. K. Mannix.

An industrial electrician, Mr. Mannix was employed by the General Motors plant. He was born in Bordentown and lived in Hopewell for 25 years. He was a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Alphonsus Church, the Catholic Men's Club, an usher in the church and was former secretary of the Mercer County Federation of the Holy Name Society.

Also surviving are a son, William J. Jr. of Trenton, a daughter, Mrs. Angelo N. Casluro of Hopewell, two grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

The service will be held at 9 a.m. Thursday at his home, followed by requiem high mass at 10 in St. Alphonsus Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Miss Mary Anna Howell, 75, formerly of Richmond, Va., died April 20 at Metwick, where she had lived for the years.

A social worker, Miss Howell retired in 1944 after 26 years as executive secretary of the Richmond Children's Aid Society. She was born in Middletown, N.Y., and was a member of the Middletown Presbyterian Church. She was a graduate of Abbot Academy, Andover, Mass., and the New York School of Social Work.

Surviving is a sister, Miss Laura Howell of Trenton.

Graveside services will be held this Tuesday at Hillside Cemetery, Middletown. Arrangements are under the direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Miss Alice M. Blackwell, 75, of 105 East Prospect Street, Hopewell, died April 15. She was a former school teacher.

HAPPENS EVERY SPRING

Vandalism Sap Rises, Too. Along with the flowers, vandalism raises its head every spring. "It must be spring," said Borough Chief of Police Peter J. McCrohan, as he rifled through the police docket, "because we've had a rash of vandalism lately."

Cars seem to be a favorite target. Several were "hit" last week, the most seriously damaged being a 1964 Thunderbird owned by Richard Mawdsley of Franklin Park.

Mr. Mawdsley had parked in the Princeton High School lot last Thursday evening, as he attended an adult class there. When he returned to his car, he told police that vandals had cracked its windshield, broken a front window, dented the trunk and scratched its entire length with a sharp instrument. "That's at least $200 to $250 damage right there," said Chief McCrohan.

Other car owners who did not escape include James Samuels, 75 Jefferson Road, aerial snapped; Seymour Alpert, 27 Random Road, convertible top slashed, car parked in the Witherspoon lot; Moderick Malcolm, 174 Moore, two tires slashed, car parked in his garage; and Juri Tufts, 4 University Way, Princeton Junction, aerials broken off both family cars as they were parked on Jefferson Road.

Mrs. Nichols Rosso, 36 Fisher Avenue, told police that a BB hole had been shot in her kitchen window on the 16th. A theft of $60 was reported by Mrs. Jenny Cortese, 29 Edwards Place. The money was in a wallet inside her purse, which, she told police, she had placed momentarily on the ground in front of her home as she was unloading packages. The theft took place Friday evening.

Oznot Was Nat, But Joins a Legendary Pair of Alumni

As everyone must know by now, Joseph David Oznot was one of the 1,165 applicants accepted for admission next fall as members of the University's Class of 1968. But Oznot, talented offspring of a wealthy private detective in East Lansing, Mich., will never show up for classes — he is, of course, the fabrication of four sophomores who wanted to juice up the "normally somber atmosphere of college admissions."

His quartet of "sponsors" took his admissions test, paid his application fee, provided transcripts of his scholastic record from a Michigan high school, arranged a personal interview in the form of an after-ego currently enrolled at Columbia and even gave him a birthday — April 1. When announcement of his acceptance was followed by revelation of the hoax, undergraduates, faculty and administration members alike agreed it was a classic achievement.

Oznot's name may some day be held in as high regard as those of the equally mythical Ephraim di Kable '39 (already considered by some to be Oznot's stepfather) and Adelbert L'Hommiedieu X. Hormone '17, a man of rare accomplishment who, according to one Princetonian, "must have been Oznot's uncle."

Di Kable, according to a member of the Class of 1939, spent three-and-a-half years at the University. Known as an adequate student and as an extremely likeable, quiet companion, di Kable was the only man with memberships in two Prospect Street clubs.

He also was an especially devout youth — records of attending at least one, usually two, chapel and church services showed up each week in the dean's office signed "Ephraim di Kable '39." He was on the cross-country squad, sold sandwiches for the Student Sandwich Agency at night and has been described by a classmate as "not so much as a 'wheel' as perhaps a 'wheel within a wheel.'"

Di Kable's disappearance from the Princeton scene was mysterious. Faced with the awful prospect of writing a senior thesis on "American Naval Power in the Bay of Fundy, March 3 to March 7, 1835," Eph apparently panicked — and disappeared.

He was one of 300 starters in a cross-country meet in Van Cortland Park one October day in 1938. Only 209 ever crossed the finish line. Whether willfully or accidentally, Eph must have taken a wrong turn.

Bert Hormone '17, Oznot's presumed uncle, was expelled from Princeton after only three months in college, according to the class secretary. Subsequently, he was a member of the French Foreign Legion, a Croix de Guerre winner, the husband of many and the father of more.

He lived out his happiest days in Tahiti, and eventually his adventures were the focal point of a book, "The Gang's All Here," published by the Princeton University Press in 1941.

Obviously, Joseph David Oznot, Princeton ex-1968, has a proud heritage.

"TAXPAYERS' PROTEST"

Object to Franklin Mall. A newly-formed organization known as the Taxpayers of Somerset, Inc., residents of Franklin Township, have indicated opposition to the Franklin Mall, a commercial development in the municipality.

"There is growing doubt as to whether the best interests of our township and its taxpayers will be best served by continuation of the Mall," this week's statement asserts. The organization feels that the developers' failure to place commercial rateables on the tax map before planning to build homes in the area violates the spirit of the agreement under which they were given the zoning regulations requisite to their undertaking.

Thomas F. Gorman of 6 Phillips Road, Somerset, said that it was the understanding of the taxpayers that approximately $13.8 million in commercial rateables would be added to the tax rolls before any residential construction would be started. He said that developers of the Mall currently are far short of this goal, adding, "What hard assurances can the developers give that they will abide to any agreement calling for additional commercial rateables?"

The Taxpayers plan to carry their grievances to the next meeting of the Franklin Township Planning Board on May 6. The organization has a board of directors of approximately 12, including Nicholas Diafori and Jens Olesen of Griggstown. Mr. Gorman said that the corporation whose activities is drawing his organization's ire is Franklin Mall, Inc., headed by James Norris of Route 206, Princeton.

LEAGUE TO ELECT

To Choose Studies. The League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting Tuesday at 8:15 in the First Presbyterian Church. The group will elect officers, choose the items for local study next year, approve the budget and hear a report on the national convention.

Supper will be served at 7:15 under the direction of Mrs. J. E. McHenry. Reservations should be made by sending a check for $1.50 to Mrs. F. Vaughan Kristeller, 301 Nassau Street. The meeting is open to all women of voting age in the Princeton area.

lie on "New Jersey's Needs, and Ways of Facing them" will be sponsored by the Princeton Council of Community Services next Wednesday at the Y31-YWCA. The session will be divided into a morning and afternoon program and a luncheon.

"Education and welfare suffer from a lack of State funds.
What we need and how to get it will be the theme of the meetings," said Mrs. Martin Schwartzschild, the council's legislative chairman, in announcing the meeting. "We have tried to get both sides of the legislative story by including as panelists both a former state senator and a member of an active lobbying group."

Crawford Jameson will present his views as a former state senator and assemblyman.
Lobbying will be discussed by Dr. Frederick L. Hipp, for 20 years executive secretary of the New Jersey Educational Association. Both will participate at the morning session, for which Mrs. Schwartzschild will serve as moderator.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made by Monday by calling 924-6882. Tickets for the lunch are $1.50.

BENEFIT DANCE PLANNED

By Doctors' Wives. The 11th annual dance, sponsored by the wives of doctors at Princeton Hospital, will be held Saturday,
May 2, at Miss Fine's School.
Proceeds will go to the Hospital's medical library, for which the group has raised over $12,- 000 during the past ten years.
Mrs. Benjamin M. Wright is president of the wives' organization, and Mrs. Robert G.
Proctor and Mrs. William F.
Haynes Jr. are co-chairmen of the dance. The group, part of the Women's Auxiliary, will also participate in the June Hospital Fete, whose proceeds will go to the Building Fund.

PTA TO HOLD SUPPER

At Littlebrook School. The Parent-Teacher Association of Littlebrook School will give its annual covered dish supper Tuesday from 6 to 7:30 at the school. The guests of honor will be Littlebrook teachers and school board members.
Mrs. Calvin Dunlop is in charge of arrangements.

The PTA will hold its final meeting of the year in May when officers for 1964-65 will be elected. The tentative slate is: Dr. Robert Bierman, president; Mrs. William Enders, first vice-president; Mrs. Martin Rome, second vice-president; Mrs. John Helmick, recording secretary; Mrs. Saul Amarel, corresponding secretary; and Ridgely Cook, treasurer.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammiller

A friend was saying that deeds by nations, as with individuals, always speak louder than words... that if we are to understand the truth about Communism, we ought to disregard the words, and judge them by their actions. As a case in point he told about this actual happening at one of the Check Points at the Berlin wall. "An East Berliner is painting a white stripe marking the East-West border at the gate. Close behind him are two East German soldiers with Tommy guns, watching to make sure the painter doesn't make a run for it. Behind them are three East German policemen with pistols, and they all watch each other." We've all heard similar stories, but as Dean Rusk said about the wall that makes a prison of a nation, "It has to be seen to be believed." Our friend said, "If we will keep in mind their deeds we should not be taken in by their words." That is also sound policy in judging a business firm, and we try, in every action, to give you a yardstick to judge our value to you. A trial is all we need to prove it! Kammiller

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs

- It is not necessary that your rug be closely woven if the pile is sufficiently high; only when the pile is short should you insist on a closely woven rug.
- Oriental rugs are excellent sound absorbers. They tend to soften all the normal noises of every day living such as outside traffic, overhead phones, radio, TV, the dish washer, washing machine, and oil burner.

HUNG JURY: Kenneth Gambler (left) and Emro Wanyo disagree over whether or not television cameras should be allowed in the courtroom. For more opinions on this, see below.

Question of the Week

Question: Would you be in favor of, or opposed to, allowing TV cameras inside a courtroom?

Where asked: Nassau Street

Kenneth E. Gambler, Solar Motel, U.S. 1, U.S. Army Colonel reserves and sales manager for Broker Sales Service, I'd be in favor of it. I think there would be less hanky-panky in the courtroom. Also, the public wouldn't pass judgment too fast—they'd be able to see what was going on. Certainly, their curiosity would be appeased.

Emro "Coke" Wanyo, 16 Witherspoon Street, clerk at Urken Supply Co. Opposed. I don't think anything like a trial should be televised. To me, it's a private affair. Why should it be shown? I know I wouldn't want to be on TV if I were in court.

Mrs. Alice Williams, West Windsor Township, waitress at P.J.'s Pancake House: I think I would be opposed to that. I think it might encourage lawyers to make a grandstand play instead of sticking to the actual facts of the case. I also think it would have a tendency to make the viewers prejudiced against the defendant one way or the other. In the Ruby case, it showed the man being condemned—as he should have been—but in sharper focus, I believe, than if the people had just read about it. On the other hand, I think it would illustrate the obligations of the public as far as jury duty is concerned.

Leon Allison, 27 Birch Avenue, retired: I'd be opposed to that. I think the press covers the courts sufficiently. I don't see why they have to see the people; reading about it should be enough. Many people resent having their pictures taken. Lots of times they try to cover their face when a photographer tries to take their picture. I just don't think it's necessary.

Richard Loggia, Kingston, mechanic for Richie's Mobil: I don't see anything wrong with it. It might make the judges be more on their toes if they knew people were watching them. It might make the defendants nervous, too, but everybody is nervous when they're in court, anyway.

Neville Woolf, 66 Linden Lane, astronomer for Princeton University: I would be opposed. It's important that when justice is done it be done away from the glare of too much publicity because the actions of both the judge and the jurors can be affected by the realization that there is this publicity. I think it is a different kind of publicity from that associated with the press just because of the presence of the cameras and the knowledge that they are on television.

Mrs. Robert Shuler, 48 Cuyler Road, housewife: It's fine with me. I don't see any harm to it. What happens in a courtroom comes out publicly anyway through the press.

Black Brower, 53 Wheat-sheaf Lane, writer: I am opposed to having TV cameras in a courtroom because I think one of the most important aspects of having 12 men, good and true, judging a case is that the pressures that affect them, as far as goodness and truth are concerned, be removed. I think the courtroom is a much more closed world than we're willing to admit. It does exist in a vacuum. It is unreasonable to expect reasonable men to render a reasonable judgment if they are subjected to the pressure that millions of people are watching them at that moment. I think the written record in a jury case is sufficient.

Mrs. Alan Smith, Orchard Farm, R.D. 4, housewife: I'd be in favor of it. I think the American public is in the know on everything, on the whole. They'd be interested. Even people who don't read newspapers will listen to a living thing that's happening at that very moment. It would put more people in the know. Besides, you don't get a biased opinion; you can form your own.

Slater Crawford, Patton Hall, Princeton University Senior: Very definitely, I'd be opposed. For one thing, I'm not even certain I agree with letting the public into the courtroom. I agree, law should be accessible as can be to any one who has the proper credentials but I also think the dignity and the processes of law are interfered with by making it a spectacle. I think the interest by the public is not due process of law but in the human dramatic element. I think, for example, if the Ruby trial were televised in its entirety, interest in it would be in the sensational rather than in due process.

Mrs. Daniel Mager, 195 Clover Lane, housewife: I think it depends on the case involved. If it were one in which there was a national interest, such as the Ruby trial, I'd be in favor of it. Everyone got so involved in that trial from the start, that I would have liked to have seen it on TV. However, if it were a trial involving scandal, such as the Shepard trial a few years back, a lot of things might be shown which I wouldn't want my children exposed to.

David Kennedy, 34 Vandeventer Avenue, University senior: In general, no. I think the privacy of the participants and their testimony should be respected. However, in cases which for one reason or another have a high public interest, I see no real objection. Like the Ruby trial for example. But if the judge for some reason ruled the proceedings should not be shown I would respect his judgment.

Mrs. Alvin Maze, 620 Lake Drive, housewife: I think areas of general public domain should definitely be open to the public—we should be allowed to watch the wheels of justice go around. It would be instructive. I feel very few people know how the processes of law and justice work. I think it would be very valuable to students. On the other hand, I feel there are certain occasions—a domestic matter or some private happening—where it would not be good to televise them.

Remember,
a moment on your lips,
forever on your hips.

FASHIONS BY MAXWELL

At April Annual, Vera Maxwell will personally present her spring collection at the tenth April Annual fashion show and bazaar Tuesday, under the auspices of the Association of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, in Skillman. Included in her show will be sample designs from the early '40's, illustrating "timeless good taste."

The lunch and show, limited to 400, will be held in Smalley Hall.

The flower market, white elephant table and bake table will be in a tent on the parking lot, and will be open from 11 to 3. All tickets for the event, limited to an attendance of 400, have been sold.

TO DISCUSS POWER

Of New Jersey Governor

Political scientist Duane Lockard of Princeton University will address the Historical Society of Princeton at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the faculty lounge of the Firestone Library.

Professor Lockard will discuss "The New Jersey Governor: A Study in Political Power." He is the author of one of the volumes of the official "New Jersey Historical Series" edited by two Society members, Dr. Richard M. Huber and Dr. Wheaton Lane.

ROAD-EO SCHEDULED

At Lawrence Center, The Safe Driving Road-EO, sponsored by the Lawrence Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 10 a.m., May 3, at the Lawrence Shopping Center. Rain date is May 10.

Michael Faiola and Norman Pietras, co-chairmen, have announced that applications will be available at Alexander Motors, 940 Prospect Street, Trenton, and at the driver education departments at the senior high schools.

The Road-EO includes a written test on safe driving and the handling of 1964 Mercurys through a driving course. Three prizes will be awarded. The top winner will represent Mercer County in the state finals.

Judges include former Lawrence Township mayor Lloyd Carver, Committeeman Clifford Snedeker, State Trooper Keller and Chief Stonaker of the Township police. Robert Ashmen and James Crubb of the Jaycees will layout the driving course.

TO HOLD BAKE SALE

For St. Paul's Choir. A bake sale will be held Sunday at St. Paul's Church after all Masses to benefit the Boychoir.

James B. Kannan, musical director, has announced that all proceeds will go to the choir's May trip to the New York World's Fair. The choir, organized 11 years ago, is a member of the International Federation of Boychoir Singers.

MRS. SIMMONS ELECTED

By New Jersey AAUW. Mrs. Glen H. Simmons of 40 Balsam Lane, professor of chemistry at Upsala College, has been elected vice-president for program development by the New Jersey division of the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Lynn B. Mann of Ten Mile Run Road, retiring as state president, will remain a director-at-large. She is administrative assistant at Douglass College, as well as organizer at Kingston Methodist Church.

Arts Festival winners from Princeton were Mrs. Richard E. Utman, sculpture first prize, and Mrs. Gladys Hoisington, weaving, second prize. Exhibitors included Mrs. Gerald D. Silliphant, Mrs. Irene Margosches, Mrs. Richard L. Reinemann and Mrs. Harold E. Crane.

TO HONOR PRESIDENT

Of Connecticut College. President and Mrs. Charles E. Sham of Connecticut College will be guests of honor at a dinner given by area alumnae at 7 p.m. next Thursday at the Nassau Inn. Mrs. Donald Blatner, president of the Connecticut College Club, is in charge of arrangements.

This marks President Sham's first visit to the Princeton club since he assumed office at Connecticut's sixth president on October 19, 1962. He will give a brief talk about changing conditions at the college.

Area alumnae, their husbands and parents of students are invited to attend.

PLAN TEA AT "PROSPECT"

For Prospective Students. The Vassar Club of Central New Jersey will entertain prospective students at a 4 p.m. tea next Tuesday at "Prospect," home of Mrs. Robert F. Goheen.

Miss Nancy O. Ruggles of the college and two students will be available to answer questions.

Laboratories "Inhumane."

To the Editor of Town Topics.

The Princeton community and surrounding area is indeed fortunate to have the Small Animal Rescue League and the dedicated persons who operate it. As a dog breeder (Cocker Spaniels) I have on occasion needed to find a home for an older dog. Mrs. Graves has shown me that there is a home for every dog but it sometimes takes more than seven days to find it.

Insofar as most dog lovers are concerned, the issue raised by Dr. Sussman's letter is not whether animals should be used for medical research, but rather the care and handling of the animals so used. Most of us dog lovers who oppose use of animals for medical research do so only because of the inhumane care and handling which the animals receive at many laboratories where this type of medical research is conducted.

We recognize the usefulness and propriety of using animals to advance medical science. However, we are all too aware of the sometimes cruel and in different manner in which laboratory animals are treated. Too many instances of inadequate anesthesia, improper post operative care, etc. are reported for one to believe that such instances are the rare exceptions, especially when they occur at some of our more reputable medical laboratories.

Until such occurrences of improper care of laboratory animals are eliminated those who care must continue to oppose laboratory use of animals at each and every turn.

Experience has shown that elimination of such occurrences of animal mistreatment will never come about until it is legislated out of existence. It is for this reason that most dog lovers urge the passage of adequate state laws. Then and only then will laboratory use of animals for medical research be acceptable.

In addition to your "Editor's Note" regarding Dr. Sussman's article and how it may be obtained, would you also inform the readers that they may obtain a booklet on animals by writing to the Humane Society of the U. S., 1145 19th St., N.W., Washington 6, D. C.

Ringoos Backs the League.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I would like to comment on the controversy between the Small Animal Rescue League and others.

I think Mrs. Graves must have made a lot of people happy, finding good homes for their pets they could no longer care for, yet did not want them disposed of. I recently adopted two cats and a dog from the League and they have made our children very happy. We hate to think what would happen to these wonderful animals if it were not for the Princeton Small Animal League and their services.

I should think a town such as Princeton would appreciate this service and stand together and fight for it; and our animals to be taken care of, not used for laboratory specimens.

SECOND GRANT AWARDED
 $1,000 for Miss Fine's. The Leadership and World Society (LAWWS) Foundation has given Miss Fine's School a grant of $1,000 for the second year for a special program in international affairs. In making the award, the Foundation wrote, "We congratulate you on the fine program you conducted this year and wish you luck in future efforts."

Asia was emphasized in this year's program for all grades, with lectures from the University and the United Nations, films, exhibits of arts and crafts, and visits to the UN, art galleries and other schools. Next year, the area of study will be Latin America.

Students on the secondary level will study and evaluate methods of resolution of conflicts through the UN or the World Court with illustrations from Latin American countries. Far Eastern studies will be incorporated into the permanent curriculum, and the eighth grade will continue to study Asian civilization.

FEDERALISTS TO MEET

Will Hear Senator Williams.

The annual dinner of the United World Federalists in New Jersey will be held Friday, May 1, at The Chalet in Rochelle Park. Senator Harrison A. Williams will speak on "The United Nations — Expanding Its Peace-Making Role." Dr. Zelma George a sociologist from Cleveland, will be toastmistress.

Tickets to the dinner, priced at $5, are available through Mrs. Charles W. Cote, 921-6277. Transportation will be arranged.

Sponsors from Princeton are Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Butler Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Hoisington, the Honorable and Mrs. Charles R. Howell, Dr. and Mrs. S. Robert Lewis, the Honorable and Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, Mr. and Mrs. Marston Morse, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Scheide, Mrs. Samuel Shellabarger, Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt H. Smith.

ART In Princeton

AN EVENING ON ART
In Secondary Schools. There will be an open meeting and panel discussion Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. on Art in Secondary School Education, sponsored by The Princeton Day Schools through their Parents Program Committee and held in the Music
Room of Miss Fine's School.
Members of the panel will be Bartlett Hayes, Head of the Art Department of Phillips
Andover School and Director of the Addison Gallery; Miss Jeanne Duff, teacher of crafts at Miss Fine's School; Mrs. Arlene Smith, teacher of art at Miss Fine's School; and art teacher at Princeton Country Day School, and Frederick Se-bels of the art department of the Borough Schools. Work done by the students of these Princeton schools will be on exhibition at Miss Fine's School from Monday through Saturday, May 8.

Questions and Answers. The meeting on Tuesday night is open to any member of the community who is interested in art at the secondary level and the problems involved in this subject: how to provide a stimulating program within the limitations imposed on instructor and student alike, (such as time allotments); how to combine freedom of experiment and discipline; why colleges don't, can't or might offer credits for art courses, and other questions concerned with the theme in mind, "Can you have a creative process going on in an institutional situation?"

Kalen's Fine Arts. At 73
Palmer Square, Kalen's celebrated the opening of their new "Gallery on the Square"
last week with an Open House and presentation of recent paintings by Regis de Bouvier de Cachard.

Though this is his first one-man show in the United States, de Cachard is not unknown to this country or to Princeton for he has painted in New York and San Francisco and some of his work has been hung by Mr. and Mrs. Saper-stein, the owners of Kalen's, during the last year.

From this show of 20 or more canvases done in his native France, Europe and the USA, we can get a clear impression of this talented young artist who has a feeling for paint quality and strong design, who "communicates" with a vigor which is refreshing.

From his choice of subjects, we see that in his travels, he is always stimulated by the new scene and, in particular, the new city. The excitement and energy of industrial life,
the speed and sound of metropolitan traffic is what he tries to trap in a picture like "Capitol Record Building, Hollywood."

Through the skyscrapers run jet streams of light and color which work out both the design and the mood of a pulsating modern city. "Coliseum" jux-tapes the old and the new with its ruins looming black against the orange lights of nighttime Rome, while around its base is the whizz of crazy traffic just gone by.

Dark and Light. As active and as typical of cities, in another way, are the birds. In Venice with "Pigeons of St.
Mark's," we are brought right down to the pavement where the pigeons fight and flutter about our feet. In "St. Mark's Square," the pigeons are seen more in focus as a busy part of the whole spectacular. This painting, exhibited at Movent in the 1963 JayCee Art Show, received a well deserved first prize.

Most of de Cachard's paintings are dark in tone with light, as contrast, piled on high with palette knife. "I think dark," he has said, but if he paints dark, it is with his meaning made crystal clear by his use of light, the break in the clouds, the burst of sun which picks out the facade of St. Mark's, the violent sunset in Malibu as backdrop for the

An exception to his rule, and all light, is "Cheyne Walk." A London river scene, high in just enough color and delightful details, this is quite satisfying. The "Gallery on the Square" will follow this exhibition of de Cachard with monthly one-man and group shows throughout the year.

TO OPEN PHOTO EXHIBIT

In Wilcox Hall. Photographs
by students and faculty at Princeton University go on display this Wednesday in Wilcox Hall. The exhibition is sponsored by the Princeton Photography Club and the Woodrow Wilson Society in conjunction with the first annual Spring Photography Competition.

Judges include Gillett Griffin of the graphic arts division of Pirestone Library, Mrs.
Elizabeth Boyd of the University Store photography department, and Howard Schrader, a photographer with the physics department.

A special showing of slides entered in the competition will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday. The exhibition will be open from 10 a.m. until midnight until May 7. Joseph Erlacher, Class of 1966, and president of the Photography Club, organized the exhibit.

Six things you'll want to do at the Bell System Pavilion of the New York World's Fair

Take The Ride, one of the most impressive features of the Pavilion. While you relax in contour chairs provided with individual speaker systems, you are transported past a series of stages and titled scenes that trace the history of man's communications.

Try the new experimental picture phone service.
This revolutionary new phone, a current research product of the Bell System, lets both parties holding a telephone conversation see each other on small television screens.

Watch the visible speech exhibit in which you see your own voice on a television screen.

See the physical sciences exhibit: the actual growing of crystals, the development of the transistor, the solar battery, and the laser.

Review the past and present of the telephone.
See the numerous different telephone models used during past years and observe the telephone manufacturing process.

Examine the microwave equipment in the glass-enclosed base of the 140-foot television control tower that transmits all the television programs originating at the Fair.

HOPES HIGH FOR CREW
Childs Cup Next Target. Victor over Navy for an unprecedented third straight year, Princeton's crew will row against Penn and Columbia Saturday on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia. The Tigers are heavy favorites to win the Childs Cup for the first time since 1957.

The short course—the participants will row the Henley distance of a mile and 5/16ths because of the Schuylkill's winding tendency—will bring Princeton close to the Olympic distance of 2,000 meters, and require more of a sprint effort than the mile and three-quarters covered in the victories over Rutgers and Navy. Traditionally, Penn has been at its best at the Henley distance over the years. The Quakers have taken the Childs Cup 27 times, compared to 16 for Princeton and 12 for Columbia, which won last year on Lake Carnegie for the first time in two decades.

The Tigers' half-length triumph last week over a well-regarded Navy crew at Annapolis brought all sorts of accolades. Dutch Schoch's veteran shell is being compared to the 1952 Princetonians, who ranked second only to the Navy boat which won the Olympic title at Helsinki.

Princeton rowed a particularly strong race on the Severn, never trailing and meeting every challenge by the midshipmen. Time for the mile and three quarters over the inevitably rough water was a highly satisfying 9.03.3.

Competition for the Tigers will grow tougher on succeeding weekends. Odds are now that they will defeat Penn and Columbia Saturday, and enter the May 2d regatta for the Compton Cup a slight favorite to outrow Harvard and M.I.T. The latter, however, is regarded as one of the East's top crews.

Should Princeton win both

PRINCETONIAN IN A PICKLE: Sam Pierson (10) is the center of attraction for two Cornell defenders in Saturday's lacrosse game. Pierson worked his way out of the tight spot and well before game's end, it was the Ithacans who were juggled. Final score, 18 to 8. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Edwin Ezell)

the Childs and Compton Cups, an achievement it has not recorded in seven years, the Carnegie Cup regatta on May 9 will undoubtedly draw the largest crowd ever to witness the event here. Yale and Cornell, the opposition that weekend, are undoubtedly two of the best crews in the East.

Yale last week defeated by four lengths the same Rutgers crew that Princeton conquered by one a week earlier on Carnegie. Cornell, which does not open its season until May 2, is well stocked with oarsmen who were unbeaten last year while winning the Eastern Sprint Championship at Worcester and the national title at Syracuse.

LACROSSE RACE SIZZLES

Brown Complicates Picture. Rarely has an April game held as much importance in the Ivy Lacrosse League as the contest played this Wednesday between defending champion Princeton and a surprising Brown team which is new to this circuit this year.

The Bruins turned pre-season predictions inside out last week by defeating favored Yale at New Haven in double overtime. It was a 7-5 final after the victors had sent the game into extra periods with a goal in the last 30 seconds. The loss was a blow to the Elis' hopes of replacing Princeton as league champion for the first time since 1956.

Thus the Tigers were confronted with the need to defeat Brown, or run the risk of having the upstart Bruins complete an unbeaten season the first time they play a full Ivy schedule. The entire membership (Columbia is the only non-participant) appears better balanced than ever this year: traditional doormat Penn has come within a goal of taking both Brown and Yale into overtime.

Oddly, the Tigers will be idle this Saturday. They play Penn on Campbell field next Wednesday afternoon, and then travel to Cambridge to face Harvard the following Saturday.

Cornell Thumped, 18 to 8. The disorganization that had been apparent following the 16-1 lacing at the hands of Navy was erased in last Saturday's clear-cut 18-8 victory over Cornell. Ferris Thomsen reshuffled his lineup, and the now combinations proved effective on the attack, although the defense still shows signs of inexperience.

The Tigers led after an early Cornell goal, but were no better than 5-3 at the half. The third period, however, was a dilly: nine Princeton goals cascaded into the Cornell net and Princeton wrapped up its 38th consecutive victory in Ivy competition.

BALL TEAM A PUZZLE

But Pitching Is Strong. Eddie Donovan can never be sure when his baseball team will come up with hitting and fielding to match the good pitching it almost invariably produces.

Last week, the Tigers hit well enough (nine times) in pushing over five runs against Lafayette but committed six costly errors. They lost the game in the last of the ninth, 6 to 5, on a misplay at the plate that allowed the winning run to cross.

Two days later, they scratched out three hits in 13 innings but player near-perfect ball afled to hold Cornell to two runs despite 11 hits. Southpaw Gerry Skey, yielding single tallies in the first and third, hurled ten innings of shutout ball but had to settle for a darkness-dictated 2-2 tie.

Saturday marked the second time in nine games this spring that the hitting and fielding matched the pitching. The latter was credited to sophomore Tom Scott, who allowed Villanova only four singles and four while fanning nine and riding the crest of errorless support.

One of the eight Princeton hits — most of them in the clutch — was a single by Scott that produced Princeton's first two runs. Shortstop Joe Sisco likewise chipped in two RBIs: rightfield Jack Singer and catcher Jody Johnson each had two safeties.

"How about a G. & T.? Or a T. C.?"

SUDDENLY, this becomes Princeton's rallying cry. For Spring is here.

The language, of course, is Princetonese for: "Would you like a gin and tonic? Or perhaps a Tom Collins?"

Well, it just so happens that we have THE gin—COUSINS EXCLUSIVE LONDON DRY GIN—imported from England, 90-proof.

AND we are sole agents for it in the country.

Sports In Princeton

Princeton heads for New England and probable trouble this weekend, particularly at Harvard pitches Paul Del Rossi, a highly-successful right-hander who has a three-year record of 23 and 2. Fourteen major league clubs are after his services when he graduates in June.

The game with the Crimson is set for Friday, with a trip to Brown the following afternoon. The Cornell tie will remain on the books as such, working against the Tigers in the standings just as a deadlock in hockey does.

TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Against Harvard in Stadium. The only spectator event of the weekend scheduled for Princeton will bring Harvard's powerful track team to Palmer Stadium at 2 o'clock. A freshman meet will be run concurrently.

Coach Pete Morgan's operatives stand no chance of springing an upset but will content themselves with individual performances good enough to bring a first place here and there. Among them will be high jumper John Hartnett, who last week set a University record with a mark of 6 feet, 9 1/2 inches while the Tigers were defeating Rutgers, 85-64.

Hartnett has cleared 6-11 in practice, and came close to that height against the Scarlet. His performance ranks him among the top-half dozen in the nation in an Olympic year.

HIGH HOPES FADE

As PHS Nine Lose Pair. At the end of last week, the Princeton High School baseball team had two things in common with the New York Yankees: each had yet to win its first game and each was losing by one-run margins.

But there is this one difference: no one expects the Yankees to continue losing. Followers of the Little Tigers, on the other hand, cannot be quite so positive.

The reason for this gloomy outlook is not hard to find. In the area of pitching — the backbone of success particularly in high school — in the opinion of PHS coach Harry Zoll, the Blue and White is becoming more and more spineless.

Examples to support his indictment are last week's defeat — a 5-4 setback by Lawrenceville on Saturday and a 6-5 reversal the day before at the hands of Franklin Township. In both contests, the visiting Little Tigers had grabbed early leads but their pitchers were not able to preserve them.

What makes this reversal in pitching even more irritating is the knowledge that at the start of the season it was the pitching that was strong and the hitting weak. Now the hitters are starting to hit but the pitching isn't there.

As a result, the Little Tigers find they have backed themselves into a corner. If they hope to earn a spot in the post-season playoff tournament, they must win all of their next five games. In one of his few pre-season predictions, Zoll said he was confident that his team would be in the play-offs this spring. Much faster than he had ever imagined, Zoll now finds himself down to his last defeat.

None of the "must" games ahead are going to be easy, either. On Thursday PHS will clash with arch-rival Trenton High on the latter's home diamond; Wednesday, it travels to Cathedral. The PHS-PHS contest will start at 3:30.

Making his first starting appearance since Princeton's opener, Rich Vomacka, ace of the PHS mound staff, held Lawrenceville at bay for five innings. Then he lost his control. His first free pass was followed by a wild pitch, two singles, a passed ball, and another single. In the six inning he worked. Vomacka gave up 10 hits and four runs.

Still PHS, led 4-2. But the Larries tied it with two more in the seventh and won it in the bottom of the ninth when Ron Pulling, in relief, walked home the winning run. Bob Thurston, who pitched two-thirds of an inning and who scored the winning run, was the winning pitcher. His predecessor, Pete Peterson, struck out 12.

PHS had tallied twice in the second on a single by Lou Balestrieri, a double by Paul Walstad and an infield out. It added single runs in the third on a walk and singles by Jimmy Case and Balestrieri again and in the fifth on a pair of walks and a single by Ron Montague.

The defeat left PHS with an 0-3-1 record. The difference between that and a 3-0-1 record is a meagre four runs.

Same Story. It was the same story, more or less, in the Franklin game: a PHS lead evaporating when its pitchers opened the door.

In its most sustained slugging attack of the season, PHS scored four runs in the fourth when Ken Ward, Dave Muni and Lou Balestrieri stroked singles. Walstad doubled and Montague tripled. This is in sharp contrast to the current .179 batting average.

For a while it looked as if that would be enough. For five innings, sophomore hurler Chris Fischer had Franklin in his control. Then in the fifth, he yielded a lead-off double and a walk.

In event Vomacka but he gave up three hits and a balk in getting only one man out. Ron Pulling came on and pitched effectively but it was too late. Franklin had scored four runs—all it needed to win.

Balestrieri went three-for-three for the losers. Coupled with his two hits against Law-

Tennis Streak Now 37

Princeton's 37th consecutive victory in tennis was recorded Friday against Dartmouth without the loss of a set.

Using reserve players in some of the singles and all of the doubles matches, matches, John Conroy, watched his team dominate the Indians all along the line. Typical example: Jim Lemons, elevated to the number six singles slot for the occasion, blanked his opponent, 6-0, 6-0.

Saturday's match with Brown at Providence was postponed to May 11 to allow the Rhode Islanders more time outdoors. The Tigers will be at Annapolis this Saturday to play Navy, and will meet Columbia Wednesday at 3:30 on the University Courts.

renceville, Lou raised his average to .467.

four games, 47 Little Tigers have struck out.

PHS TRACKMEN SPLIT

To Enter Penn Relays. It was a crushing two days for coach Gerald Groninger's Princeton High track squad. On Friday it crushed Cathedral, 107-10; the day before, it had been crushed itself by New Brunswick, 85 1/3 to 31 2/3.

In both instances, the results were expected. Last spring, PHS also topped 100 points against hapless Cathedral, competing in the sport for the first time. This year, against perennial track power New Brunswick, Groninger's main goal was to score more than the 20 points PHS had scored against its neighbors in 1963. So, in effect, Thursday's 32 points meant something of a victory.

This week, the competition will be more even. Bridgewater-Raritan will entertain Princeton Thursday.

A year ago, this same team edged PHS which had been weakened by the absence of a number of seniors who had attended a class trip. This year Groninger reported he hopes his squad can even the score.

On Friday, Groninger will enter a team in the Penn Relays to be held at Philadelphia's Franklin Field. The quartet will be comprised of Carl Giese who will run the 330; Art Brooks, 440; Lyle Story, three-quarter mile; and Jay Gallagher, mile. Then on Tuesday, Franklin Town-

Brooks and Madden — but failed to claim third place. It for PHS was Pete Khne, goal-served ample evidence that New Brunswick is out of Princeton's class.

PHS BLANKS LARRIES

In Jayvee Lacrosse, 11-0. The Princeton High School varsity lacrosse team was idle last week but its "B" team took up the slack in winning fashion.

Friday, the Little Tiger jayvees swamped Hun's jayvees, 14-1. Earlier in the week, the Blue and White "B" squad swamped the Lawrenceville jayvees, 11-0.

Against Hun, Carl Burns scored two of his three goals in the first period as PHS jumped to a 4-0 lead. In the second half, Bob Chenieck, Roscoe Williams and Harvey Hammond combined for seven goals. A standout in the nets for PHS was Pete Khne, goal-served ample evidence that New Brunswick is out of Princeton's class.

Displaying finesse in stick handling, scooping and passing, the Little Tigers swept over the Lawrenceville jayvees, as Warren Elmer, Chenieck and Burns each tallied twice. Spencer Willard and Mike Hawk shared goalie duties and shut the door on the Red and Black attack.

On Saturday, the PHS varsity will find the opposition strong when it plays the undefeated Lawrenceville squad at Lawrenceville. The following Wednesday, April 29, the Blue and White will be at Fairlawn.

It was reported here last week that PHS had defeated Hun, 10-7. It did, but the con-

THE SCORING STEWARTS: A two-barreled reason for the early success of the Princeton High School lacrosse team can be found in the solid play of the Stewart brothers. Sam, left, a senior and captain of the squad scored three times against Hun School Saturday. Earlier, Dick, a sophomore, tallied twice against Montclair and Sam, once, in leading PHIS to an 8-3 victory over Montclair High School. Both were members of the varsity football squad. test was a scrimmage, not a bona-fide game as the story implied.
HOLT AND GIBSON WIN
In Carnegie Sailing. Phil Holt marked Sunday's rain-spattered Penguin racing on the lake by winning all three races in Carnegie Sailing Club competition. With Rob Holt as his crew, he compiled 23.1 points.
Bub Wilson was second with 17.7. Other entries were Dexter Miller, 15.4; Harry Cooke, 13.1; Ed Metcalf, 8.0; and Charles Smith, 6.0.
Walt Gibson totalled 10.4 points in taking two of the three GP-14 races. Paul Williams, victor in the third race, had a total of 10.1. Other contestants were Hlick Goetz, 7.6, and Jerry Lawson, 5.2.
HUN NINE STARTS FAST
2-0 In League Play. After the first week of play, the Hun School baseball team is 2-0 in the Penn-Jersey League. It won its opener against Perkiomen convincingly, 10-1, and then outlasted George School, 10-9, in a seven-inning brawl at Newtown, Pa.
Following a scheduled contest in Philadelphia against Germanatown Friends on Wednesday, Hun will play its home opener Friday opposite Peddie. The contest, a non-league outing, will start at 3:30. Tuesday afternoon the Red and Black will resume league action when it entertains Solebury, also at 3:30.

Saturday's 10-9 score is indicative of a loosely-played game. It was, after a promising start, George School walked and misplayed itself to defeat. It committed six errors, most of them costly.
A prime example would be the fourth inning — Hun's most productive — in which the visitors scored four runs without a single hit. The first batter struck out but was safe when the catcher dropped the ball. Then in order, a hit batter, three successive walks and an infield out produced four runs.
Scott Page, Hun's starting pitcher, was just as generous toward the home team. He started firmly by striking out the lead off batter.
That was to be his best effort for the day, however, as he failed to retire any of the next eight George School batters. Before Chris Westover came on to get the inning's final two outs, the home team had erupted for seven runs. Westover went on to pitch the remaining six innings, allowed only two runs, and emerged as the hero of the victors.

Page Wins Opener. Page was just as shaky in Hun's opener with Pingry last Wednesday, but he managed to survive until the fifth when he tired. At the time, Coach Sandy Bing's Johnny Huns had a comfortable 6-0 lead.
Page walked five in the first two innings. In the second, the home team loaded the bases with no outs but failed to score when Page settled down to retire the side on two strikeouts and a pop-up.
After three scoreless innings,

Hun opened up with a 14-hit attack. It scored three runs in the fourth, three more in the fifth and a pair in the sixth and seventh frames. Herman Penner led the surge with a three-for-three performance at the plate. He also drove in three runs to lead Hun in that department, too.

BOWLING NOTES
Nassau Del Increases Lead. In last week's competition in the Nassau Bowling League, Nassau Delicatessen widened its first place lead to six games, with 52 wins to 49 for both Thorne Pharmacy and Cooper & Schafer. Tiger Garage is next with 44.
Highest single games of the week were a 216 and a 215 bowled by Wilton Rose. Others over the 200 mark: Val Ranallo, 207; Bill Dumble, 203, and Dick Edwards, 201.

Colonial Restaurant, with 61½ wins, held on to its comfortable margin over Johnson Electric, 53½, in the Princeton Three-Man Classic League. In third place is Turney Motors, 45 wins.

Individual scoring last week included a new three-game league record of 671, rolled by Frank Delneso with single games scores of 204, 256 and 211. Highest single game was Bruce Hornstein's 257, and others over 200 included: Frank Maddalon, 245 and 213; Joe Baldino, 243; Al Hibbard, 236 and 223; Larry Golden, 232; John Gray, 227; Bruce Hornstein, 215, and Vince Graziano, 205.

Hightstown Trust, although last in the league with 37 wins, rolled a new high three-game team series of 1825.

BUSINESS In Princeton

THE TREND IS UP

For First Quarter, Princeton's business progress, seen through a number of indices gathered by TOWN TOPICS, continues generally upward and on toward a steady pace that it is informative to look back on occasion and view the rate of climb.

Figures for the most recent six first quarters — March 1959 through March 1964 — clearly show this progress. In the bank savings column, for instance, the index shows that in March 1959, Princeton accounts came to $34,897,416. At the end of March 1964, the total was $61,516,592 — an increase of nearly $27,000,000 — better than 80% — in the six years.

Money in checking accounts has also gone up steadily to a March 1964 high of $48,076,438 — an eight percent jump from a year ago. And loans, at nearly $63,000,000 this March, have climbed 11% since last March. Postal receipts, at $477,937, are up 17% from a year ago. Receipts from parking meters on the other hand, have increased only two percent from last March, to $18,876.

Figures showing the relative activity in building are irregular. New housing starts for the period are down by one in the Borough, up by two in the Township compared with the first quarter of 1963.

While both number of building permits issued and value of these permits are down in the Township compared with last year, there has been an increase in nine permits and $3,000,000 in permit valuation in the Borough. The large increase in value is chiefly attributable to additions to Princeton Hospital and to the University's McCormick Hall.

Gains in telephones in service and in new car sales have been registered over the first quarter of last year. Telephones, up nine percent to 12,340, have increased by more than 3,000 in the past six years here, and local justification of Detroit's cheerfulness is shown by the 11% jump in new cars sold compared with the same period in 1963.

KANE MOVES IN

Occupies New Building, Herbert Kane, president of the automobile agency that bears his name, quietly dropped the "Lahiere" from "Lahiere-Kane" in the process of moving his Rambler-foreign car salesroom from Spring Street to its spacious new building on Route 206.

A Grand Opening will be held this week-end. Guests will receive free perfume and record albums, and will be invited to enter a contest with a one-carat diamond ring as first prize.

Entrants in the contest will be asked to list, in order, the 10 most important safety factors in a car, as determined by Rambler engineers.

At the Grand Opening, visitors may examine a Rambler show car, called the Marquesa, a one-of-a-kind, mauve pink model with an interior that looks rather like a Roman bath. Displays from the New York automobile show will also be in the new show-room.

Expanded Space, Mr. Kane moved out of Spring Street so that the Borough can tear down his former buildings for a parking lot. This lot will replace the lot that will serve as the site for the new public library.

In his new building, located at 830 State Road in Princeton Township, Mr. Kane has 15,000 square feet of space, an air-conditioned showroom which can accommodate 20 new cars under cover, and enlarged quarters for his service department.

The show-room has an unusual wooden parquet floor and a glass front which faces east on Route 206. Mr. Kane is leasing the building under a long-term agreement with William Bucci, the owner-builder.

Besides Ramblers, the Kane agency sells Austin-Healeys, MG's, Renaults and Peugeots.

TO HEAR TOURIST BOOM

At Next Chamber Meeting, Princeton's location as "ground zero" for a boom in tourist business will be the subject of a general meeting of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council. The meeting will be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Nassau Inn.

Invitations to the session have been sent to about 500 businesses in the area, says Alan G. Frank, chamber president. A heavy concentration of visitors is expected for six weeks starting June 1.

At the end of the 60-minute business meeting, there will be refreshments and a motion picture of a travel trailer rally similar to the Wally Byam Caravan Club encampment scheduled for Blawenburg this summer.

Firemen's League Close, Mercer Engine Co. 3 maintained its lead in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 58 wins. Dutch Neck, 54, is in second place.

High individual score for a single game last week in the circuit was Harold Davall's 224. Other high scorers: George Kirby, 219. Bip Davison, 214, Ken Luck, 212.

In the Princeton "B" League, The Key Shop is out in front with a total of 38 wins. Second is Balestrieri, 56, followed by Kase Kleaners and Jugtown Del at 48 apiece.

Bill Parke's 231 led the single game scoring among the "B's" last week. Both Dan Tamasi and Frank Cawley rolled 211's. Ed Hoffman howled a 206 and other high games were those by Ed Sammino, 204; Tony Tamasi and Jim Wheeler, 201's; and Jerry Perpetua and Bob Sculerati, 200's.

Women's Bowling, Woolworth's, 34, still tops the Princeton's Business Women's League, with Claridge Wine & Liquor second at 32. In third place is Jefferson Plumbing with 30 wins.

Highest game last week in the league was the 197 howled by Dot Silvester. Julia Ball had one game of 186, and Lillian Burroughs had a 177.

In the Princeton Women's League, The First National Bank of Cranbury, with 72 wins, is in first place, followed by Gropps Tavern, 60 wins.

Highest single game last week was Dot Wheeler's 207. Top series score was a 530 total by Sara Rose.

PIIS CHOIR TO SING
From Tour Repertoire. A preview of Princeton High School Choir's European concert will be given at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, May 16, at the McCarter.

The young singers, directed by Thomas Hulsh, all present selections from the concert program they have prepared for audiences in Rome, Spoleto, Budapest, Prague and London.

The McCarter concert is sponsored by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions Clubs of Princeton. The three service clubs have agreed to pick up the costs for the use of the McCarter, turning over all money raised at the box office to the choir towards tour expenses. Tickets, priced at $2, $3 and $4, will go on sale next Monday at the McCarter. Advance orders may be placed through members of the service clubs and at the high school.

At the planning session last week, John C. Yeoman of Rotary, was named chairman of the service clubs' committee. Also serving are George Adlman, Kiwanis president, and Everett Campbell, Kiwanis; Richard A. Kalen and Robert A. Nelson, Lions, and Chester A. Stroup, Rotary. Assisting in the planning were William Lockwood of the McCarter and Donald Evans, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

LAREDO RESCHEDULED
For This Monday, Violinist Jaime Laredo, snowbound in Newark on the night of his scheduled McCarter appearance in January, will perform at 8:30 p.m. on Monday. Tickets for the January 13 concert, Princeton University Series I, No. 3, will be honored.

Laredo, 22-year-old Bolivian violinist, won the coveted Queen Elizabeth of Belgium Competition in 1959. He has appeared with the orchestras of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington, Dallas and other major cities, as well as in many solo concerts in Europe and South America.

His Princeton program includes Vivaldi's "Sonata in A Major, Opus 2, No. 2," Beethoven's "Sonata No. 3 in G Major, Opus 30, No. 3," Schubert's "Rondeau Brilliant in B

Minor," Hindemith's "Sonata in E Major," the "Recitative" and "Scherzo-Caprice" by Kreisler, "Nigun" from Bloch's "Baal Shem," and Saint-Saens' "Etude En Forma De Valse." Ruth Laredo will be the piano accompanist.

Concert-goers who had tickets for January 13th but threw them away, may pick up re-issued tickets at the McCarter box office on Monday evening. Series I has been sold out, but seats on stage are on sale at the University Store. Unsold tickets, plus 50 standing room tickets, will be available at 7:30 p.m. at the box office.

TWO CHOIRS TO SING
At Milbank Concert. The Wellesley College Choir and the Princeton University Chapel Choir will sing at 3:30 Sunday in the 34th annual Milbank Memorial Concert at the chapel. Carl Weinrich will direct. The group, assisted by an orchestra, will present Handel's "Funeral Anthem on the Death of Queen Caroline" and the "Missa Brevis in F major, K. 192" by Mozart.

Soloists are Patricia Kelly, soprano; Onyett Love, contralto; Tatsu Hoshina, tenor; Howard Chadwick, bass, and LaVerne Jackson, organist.

The concert, open to the public, is sponsored each spring by the Milbank Foundation as a memorial to Albert G. Milbank and Elizabeth Milbank Anderson.

BRAMHIS PROGRAMMED
By Musical Amateurs. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will sing Brahms' "Requiem" at Sunday's session. Mrs. Barbara Lewis will conduct the program, set for 5 p.m. in the gymnasium at Miss Fine's School.

Soloists will be Virginia Switten, soprano, and Woodward Waesche, bass. The public is invited to attend.

"FOUR IN ONE"
Kroll Group Plays. The audience at 10 McCosh Hall last Monday night was privileged to hear an evening of great string quartet playing by the Kroll Quartet, William Kroll, violin; William Stone, violin; Harry Zaratzian, viola; and Aaron Twerdowsky, violoncello. Mozart's Quartet No. 19 in A Major, K. 465, Prokofiev's Quartet No. 2 in F Major, Opus 12 and Beethoven's Quartet No. 7 in F Major, Opus 59, No. 1, made up the program.

The Kroll Quartet, ne the Coolidge Quartet, showed evidence aplenty that playing together over many years is the only answer to great ensemble. They were singing violins, knowing every step of the way what the other fellow was doing and what they were supposed to do while he was doing it. Never did they underplay, an unfortunate penchant of too many chamber players, yet never did they force their dynamic attitudes "beyond the living room". Their sense of communication was sensitive and intimate. Their clarity of interpretation urged attentive listening.

The first quartet, Mozart K. 465, (one of the six he dedicated to Haydn) opened with a brief Adagio, abundant in alterations and pungent enough to pervade the succeeding Allegro. The Quartet used this Adagio to full advantage in beginning the evening using it as a discipline to keep the edginess out of the Allegro.

Then they moved to the Andante Cantabile, with the violins singing their duets and all of the moods magnificently overplayed, the movement closing with a melodically expressed by the first violin. The third movement, Menuetto, gave the audience a chance to hear a Quartet showing its sense of dramatic union through bowing technique. The final Allegro was played as a Presto with an abundance of vigor but never rough.

Prokofiev Follows. Next was the Second Quartet, of Prokofiev, the man who enjoyed the comfortable position of being liked by the public and by his colleagues. Musically this work was the least of the evening and seemed "much ado".

The first movement was played with much intensity and gaiety. The second movement was freighted with rhythmic tricks depending more upon the bow than upon the instruments for effect. The last movement was the most substantial but was involved with a Parisian sense of busy-ness which caused the listener to be more aware of the players than of the composer. Withal, it was twenty minutes of fun.

Prokofiev as heard today seems hardly to be the man about whom such things as "carnival of cacophony", "Russian chaos in music" and "Bolshevism in art" once were said. The quartet did include, however, the four areas which he used to describe himself, classicism in the form, innovation in certain compositional tricks, rhythmic drive and lyricism.

"Magnificent Playing." After intermission the big piece of the evening was performed, Beethoven's Opus 59, No. 1 — the first of the three "Russian Quartets". In this work the Kroll Quartet showed their artistry and knowledgeability as they presented with utmost clarity Beethoven as a master of form and development while heightening further their sense of ensemble.

In the second movement they played Beethoven's happy tunes with dynamic unanimity as they moved back and forth among softs and louds. In the Adagio they had a little "extra" intensity, perhaps to distinguish the Beethoven Adagio from the Beethoven Adagio which difference Theodore Thomas pointed out as the Andante being tranquil and the Adagio, a deep expression of the soul. The quiet passages in this movement left nothing to be desired. The concluding Allegro, Thomas Russo, was played as one with the Adagio and the evening ended with a vigorous climax.

Of course one must cite these players for their technical excellence and performing tastes but more important, they lent these abilities to the greater cause of magnificent string quartet playing. Monday night we heard four men who could work as one in the fine art of chamber music performance.

News Of The CHURCHES

"DIDN'T FACE ISSUES"

Churchman Says of Parlay. "I was greatly disappointed in the results of the Consultation on Church Union," the Rev. Walter D. Wagoner, director of the Fund for Theological Education, told TOWN TOPICS this week.

Referring to the six-denomination meeting held at the Princeton Inn, he said, "I have heard comments from members of delegations who felt very strongly about it—particularly from the United Church of Christ.

"The Consultation became just another faith and order discussion. The last 40 years have been full of them."

Also involved in the discussions were the United Presbyterian, Episcopal, Methodist-Christian (Disciples of Christ) and Evangelical United Brethren churches. Their talks revolved around "One Ministry," "One Baptism" and "One Table." The Rev. Dr. James I. McCord, president of Princeton Seminary, was chairman.

"Even before the talks began," the Rev. Mr. Wagoner said, "everyone knew where the Protestant Episcopal Church stood on the differences between the churches. I find it hard to understand why they had entered discussions at all.

"The Methodists rocked the Consultation because their position had been assumed as favorable—but they have now confirmed that their empire is so large and so self-sufficient that they cannot be bothered with discussions." Then he added, "Well, perhaps that is a little strong."

"Verbosé," The session, which closed Thursday morning, "was used as an escape hatch," the Rev. Mr. Wagoner commented. "It didn't really face the issues.

"The conference may have proved that a dead end has been reached in verbose ecumenicity. Those really interested in merger will react against it."

Obstacles. The delegates, in a closing statement, pledged themselves to "press on for a union." Difficulties, setbacks and disappointments will come in the future, as they have already—we realize full well. They represented more than 20 million Protestants.

Stumbling blocks to church union included the Episcopalians' statement that the Anglican doctrine of the ministry would have to be the framework of discussions. This conflict with the doctrines of Protestant churches not governed by bishops is some 300 years old.

Walter D. Wagoner

The Methodist representatives issued a report naming five issues "It seems unlikely that the Methodist Church is prepared at this time to abandon its traditional practice of the open communion table, and infant baptism, recognizing sprinkling or emersion." The report said the Methodist Church is a "world church" and there are "many unresolved questions as to future relationships with churches outside the United States." It also has "taken strong stands on social issues" such as drinking and gambling, and "in these differs in degree from one or more of the participating churches. Here again, no satisfactory compromise has come in view."

The Future. The Rev. Mr. Wagoner has a hunch that, in the years ahead, "less faith will be put in big meetings. More likely, two churches at a time—which have no significant theological differences—will sit down together.

"The United Church of Christ presented a proposal for merging administrative functions, such as mission boards, etc. Now they may begin merger talks with the United Presbyterian Church."

Princeton Unity. The Consultation was in firm agreement that local Christian unity groups be established throughout the nation.

"Now," said Mr. Wagoner, "local groups such as the Princeton Christian Unity Committee, know what they are up against nationally. Possibly the local groups may be able to move faster than the national organizations."

The Princeton group, he said, is about to present a joint action program which has been planned with the pastors of the participating churches.

"We need to demonstrate cooperation and unity," he said, "to counter the disappointment of the Consultation on Christian Unity discussions."

BULLETIN NOTES. Dedication. The new Christian Education Building at Princeton Baptist Church, Penns Neck, will be dedicated at 4 p.m. Sunday. The Rev. Dr. Ralph Drisco of the New Jersey Baptist Convention will conduct the service. An open house follows.

Benefit. A "Fashion Spectacular and Tea" featuring wigs and hair styles, will be held by the First Baptist Women's Day Committee from 4 to 7 this Sunday at Community Park School. Mrs. Callie Garner and Mrs. Oneta Campbell are co-chairmen. Mrs. John Sutherland, former model and fashion designer, will be commentator. Tickets are available from the committee, or from Mrs. Lillie Taylor, WA 4-4447.

Hadassah. The Princeton Chapter of Hadassah will meet at 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the Princeton Jewish Center. The program will feature a panel discussion of "I Read It In The Newspaper," moderated by Mrs. Jerry Gray.

Harlem Speaker. The Rev. Miss Letty Russell of East Harlem Protestant Parish will address the 6:15 p.m. Family Night supper at First Presbyterian Church this Sunday. The Rev. Miss Russell is a graduate of Wellesley College and Harvard Divinity School, and will be accompanied by a group of young people from her church.

COLONIAL TOWN HOUSE

Space and location are the practical assets of this mellow, middle-aged house in the heart of the Western Borough. From the aesthetic and comfort angles, the gracious big living and dining rooms, nicely renovated kitchen and roomy master suite are outstanding. 6 other bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths and playroom complete the interior. Pretty garden for parents, nearby playgrounds for children are added attractions. $58,000

LUXURY HOMES DEBUT

*To The One Family In Ten
Who Can Afford To Live In*

Westwood Square

Westwood Square is not being built for everybody. It's being built for people who can afford between $26,990 and $29,990 for a home. We could build the homes for less money. But then they would be like many other homes around Trenton. They wouldn't be distinctive. They wouldn't be the most exciting new home news in Trenton in a decade.

The homes are Colonial styled. Real Colonial. Not commercial Colonial. They're built with such attention to detail that we invite you to inspect every nook and corner with a fine tooth comb.

The rooms are big. Really big. Not just a little larger than usual. The "Leisure Room" in our 2-story home, for example, stretches a spacious forty-two feet. That's how big.

If you can afford the price, you can't afford to miss seeing our samples.

Sample homes will be open Sat. & Sun., 2-6 p.m.

WESTWOOD SQUARE, Westwood Drive North, Off Bear Tavern Road in Ewing Township 683-3234. Shown exclusively by Dean Realty, 25 Royal Oak Rd., Trenton, TU 2-5881.

DIRECTIONS: From Trenton, take Bear Tavern Road (Route 579), three-tenths mile north of Scudders Falls Hwy. to Mercer County's Mountain View Golf Course. Homes opposite Club House.

THE HOPEWELL AMERICAN LEGION POST #339 has purchased a location for their new home in Hopewell Township. The property on Mercer St. Hopewell is for sale. It consists of a large two-story frame building in excellent shape and some four parcels of land. There are many attractive features to the property and it has a number of possibilities. The asking price for the entire holding is a modest $18,000. Inquire for additional details. JOHN D. GUINNESS, Real Estate Broker, 2 W. Broad St., Hopewell, 466-1224.

TOWNSHIP . . . this inviting small home, in one of Princeton's most pleasant neighborhoods, offers a large living-dining room, a kitchen with many cabinets and breakfast area, 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, large closets and attached carport. $23,900

CONTEMPORARY . . . close to school and the Shopping Center. And with 4 bedrooms and 2 baths, too! A charming place to live — trees, trees, trees . . . beamed ceilings and a nice yard. $29,500

CUSTOM-BUILT . . . here is a fine residence, in one of Princeton's delightful new neighborhoods, with a large living-dining room, beautiful kitchen and breakfast area, 3 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, large playroom and a den which could be another bedroom. $36,000

THIS IS IT! for the family who wants space and attractive surroundings. Five large bedrooms, two full baths and a powder room. Gracious living room with fireplace, dining room, fully equipped kitchen, oversize family room, full basement. Double garage. Very pretty grounds with a winding brook. This home will be available in June. Do call us. $47,500

BUILT BY MATTHEWS . . . in this community, there is nothing more, perhaps, to say about the construction of a dwelling. And this classic Tudor residence will endure for many satisfying centuries. Completely (and imaginatively) renovated by the present owner, its fine quality is apparent at first glance. The rooms are large, and designed for elegant hospitality. There is a tremendous sunken room, off the garden, with bookshelves and a fireplace, almost large enough for a reunion. The master bedroom has its own bath and dressing room, and there are 4 other bedrooms and 2 more baths. The landscaping has been beautifully done. All in all, here is a residence of the sort that is typical of the old Princeton — one of those fabled homes in the Western Section which rarely come on the market. $95,000

STUART HILL . . . this is the year to build, and in these beautiful woods, off The Great Road, your two acres are waiting for the architect of your choice. Adjoining the new Stuart Country Day School, and close to where the other new private schools will be erected in the near future, this unusual residential community offers more, perhaps, than any other in the Princeton area. A few plots are available for building this year. Water, sewer and all utilities already installed, of course. Prices on request

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

DON'T HOUSE-HUNT UNTIL YOU'VE BEEN THROUGH A BRAINSTORM Electrical Heating Expert Advises Whole Family Join In Times change. So do words.

"Aw, he's just having a brain storm." That was no compliment, in the old days, but that was before business put the words brain and storming together and found they add up to a good technique for getting what you want from life for the least expenditures of effort and money.

So husband and wife, or the whole family if there is a family, should sit down with pencil, paper and jot down every wild idea as well as every sensible-sounding one that comes into anyone's head BEFORE you do anything else about house-hunting. So says a pioneer contractor in the installation of electrical home heating systems.

He feels pretty sure of course, than when everything has been thought through, the heating systems he advocates will win in that department. "I'll bill as nothing else can." However, his point of view is actually so comprehensive it considers location, adjacencies to schools, and little work-smoothers in addition to the ideal indoor year around climate.

"We'll take care of the circulation of the heat, but just to show I am interested in the entire 'home' I stress the word circulation. Each member of the family should keep it at the center of his mind.

"Let's see if I can explain it another way: if there are several children, is a place provided for each to do his homework? Even if mother hides her sewing machine when it's not in use, is there a place for it where everybody won't stumble on it when it IS in use?

"On the more glamorous side when the house is all slicked up for entertaining is "circulation" provided? If its friends of the folks dropping by on a weeknight, will it encroach on the children's responsibilities (there's that homework again)?

"You can have the house you want, and I'll bet for the price you want to pay IF you spend some time figuring out what you actually do want . . . but maybe even more important what you need."

In applying the business technique you might want several sessions. It's important to remember that during the initial "brain storming" phase (you might want to limit it to an hour) suggestions can be as wild as can be. They're not all followable but they may lead to a real sensible suggestion as the ideas flow on. You're honor-bound not to criticize anybody else's suggestion, nor can he criticize yours.

Then when you're ready to see the real estate agent, or builder. He can help you find the house that will suit you best because you can tell him with no fuzziness, and no doubts.

"Of course," adds the electrical contractor "you're really going to know what you expect from your heating system. But a complete electrical home heating system exceeds that by far. It's so world-of-tomorrow it can even meet such wishful-sounding requirements as 'no maintenance', the ever-present supply of fuel with no storage facility needed at home at all."

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

"Want freedom of decorating? With electrical heating, you've got it. Want the bedroom warmer and the living room cooler? Flip those room-by-room thermostats, you've got it.

"And how long do you expect a heating system to last? Revise your guesses way upward with electrical heating. A complete electrical home heating system installed in accordance with industry standards is expected to last as long as the house does."

QUESTION BOX

- Q. Can I install electrical heating myself?
A. Not unless you're a qualified specialist in wiring with experience in the field. It is often said that one of the reasons the popularity of electrical heating has mushroomed in three years is because it's getting such excellent word-of-mouth raves from delighted users. The actual installation is modest in cost, but it takes an expert to make sure that this fine heating method is carefully integrated into a structure that will utilize it efficiently.
- Q. Are baseboards preferred to other types of electrical heating?
A. Electrical baseboards enjoy great — and deserved popularity — and are more than a match for the toughest weather this region of ours can brew up. However, within the same house, you may find two or even three types of units. Wall units and ceiling fixtures are the other two.
- Q. What is the recommended capacity for kitchen-bath-room fans in an electrically-heated house? Can they be the same size?
A. Actually there are distinct recommendations for each. A minimum of fifteen changes per hour is the standard for kitchens and a minimum of twelve changes per hour for bathrooms.

Roll-On covers quickly, completely to check perspiration and ban underarm odor.

Stick is fortified with Hexachlorophene to kill odor-causing bacteria.

Tussy deodorants are really effective, yet never harm fabrics. Choose Cream, Roll-On or Stick, or all 3 for different members of the family. Take advantage of this annual sale and stock up for real savings!
